STATE'S SALES INCREASE TEN FOLD SINCE '14

Compilation of State Dairy Commissioner Shows Increase All Along Line

SALES TOTAL $10,535,000

Morton County Is Declared Banner County of State—Burleigh County Well Up

Butterfat production reached its highest point in North Dakota in the year ending June 30, 1923, according to a compilation made public today by W. F. Reynolds, state dairy commissioner. Total sales reached 22,302,444 pounds, the highest during the 10 years for which records are available. Of this amount 18,171,026 pounds went through cream stations and 3,955,418 direct to the creameries.

A remarkable increase in dairying is shown in the last 10 years. While production of butterfat (sold to cream stations) for the year July 1, 1913 to July 1, 1924 was but 3,726,374 pounds, in the past fiscal year it was 19,171,026 pounds. Whereas they only received for the state's production of butterfat in the year 1913-14 was $873,177.33 it was almost 10 times that amount in the past year, or $7,488,622.39. The comparison available is only the cream station records, and does not include the direct shipments.

Morton county ranks as the banner butterfat producing county in the state, according to the records of Mr. Reynolds. The county has six creameries. These creameries received through direct shipments 44,722 pounds of butterfat, making a total production from Morton county of 1,566,374 pounds.

The second largest county in dairying is Burleigh county, with 1,312,444 pounds of butterfat sold to cream stations and 1,312,444 pounds direct to the creameries. The total value of butterfat sold to creameries, including both that marketed through cream stations and direct, is placed at $10,535,000 for the year ending July 1, 1923.

The increase in butterfat marketed through cream stations has been regular. Beginning with 3,726,374 pounds in the year ending July 1, 1914, it jumped to 6,258,380 in 1917, to 12,029,358 in 1921, to 17,019,869 in 1922, and to 19,171,026 for the current year.

He was first taken ill about ten days ago after attending a banquet in Portland, Ore., at which he ate some crab meat that was said to have brought on ptomaine poisoning. Mr. Huntington was rushed back to Minneapolis by special train and was thought to be improving until today when he died.

The band appeared suddenly at the jail, overpowered two deputies, took their keys and made away with the prisoner. Telephone wires leading from the jail had been cut.

BUSINESS IN SLOPE IS ON THE UPGRADE

Steady Improvement as Varied Crops Worth Millions Are Marketed, Is Seen

DISTRICT COMPLIMENTED

Western North Dakota, Pitted Few Years Ago, Now Held Banner Spot of No. Dakota

Conditions on the Missouri Slope and Bismarck territory, which have been the subject of favorable comment by many visitors to the city, will improve in the future, according to the consensus of opinion of many men in finance and business who have surveyed the field.

The question has been asked of a Bismarck resident: "Why does the Missouri Slope seem the most prosperous section of the state right now?"

The answer, according to one financial man, is that western North Dakota did cause hardship, but the lack of three years ago, she touched the bottom at that time and since then she has been on the upgrade. The Slope had no big war crop, he added, which was considered hard at the time and did cause hardship, but the lack of such a crop a visitation of the subsequent evils of inflation which is now bringing trouble upon many other sections of the Northwest.

That business will improve steadily in the Slope, seems to be the belief of many keen business men. The Slope's "money crop" is just now beginning to get fully on the market. It is pointed out that for the Slope's money crop is not wheat or rye—this year it is flax, corn, turnips, cattle and hogs, and the daily "money crop" of butter and eggs.

Daily "Money Crop"

An example of the daily "money crop" is contained in the annual report of the Dairy Commission today, who shows butterfat sales in one year in Burleigh county amounting to nearly $400,000. McIntosh and Morton counties twice that amount and other Slope counties showing them to be the biggest dairy counties in the state.

The flax crop, which was exceptionally good, is comparatively heavy in western North Dakota. It was damaged some by the wet weather which delayed the threshing of flax, and also of other grains. Several million dollars worth of flaxseed is expected to be marketed within the next few weeks.

The corn crop is being placed on the market by many farmers as fast as possible, the producers endeavoring to sell their corn before there is any change in the present high price of that commodity.

The annual fall marketing of livestock is now under way, the movement being very heavy from Oliver, Dunn, Bowman and other western North Dakota counties.

The turkey crop is coming on, and between now and Christmas, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of turkeys will be sent from western North Dakota to the eastern market.

Coal Mines Employ Many

The lignite coal industry is now getting under way for the fall and winter mining season, which not only will offer employment to hundreds of miners but also offers employment to many farmers living in the mining sections. Prospects are for another good year for this industry, which has developed fast in western North Dakota. Production in the lignite field has increased 400 percent in the last 10 years, and has brought a steady flow of money into the western part of the state. Several of the mining companies are making greater inroads on the coal market in the twin cities and eastern Minnesota than in past years.

Corn production has increased 200 percent in the past five years, flax production in western North Dakota is estimated at 300 percent more this year than for the last three years average. The livestock industry of the western part of the state, hit hard immediately after the war, has been steadily recovering. Shipments from Killdeer, Dickinson and Bowman have shown big increases.

POLICE BREAK ATTACKS UPON LLOYD GEORGE

Crowds in New York Stage Demonstrations Against Former English Premier

BANNERS TORN DOWN

Efforts to Disturb Rest of Visitor in Hotel Are Broken Up by the Police

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 3.—The police today prepared for another skirmish with Irish Republican sympathizers who have made two demonstrations against David Lloyd George since he set foot on American soil a month ago.

Heavy details of police and plainclothesmen were under orders to escort him from the Waldorf Astoria hotel to the pier of the Majestic on which he leaves for home.

The Irish Republicans attempted their first demonstration when Mr. Lloyd George arrived at the Battery, but efforts of women to flaunt banners in his face at the city hall were frustrated by police who broke up the parade before the little Welshman reached there for an official welcome.

Last night mounted men were called into action and nearly a dozen persons arrested when they attempted to hold an anti-British meeting on Broadway in front of the opera house during Mr. Lloyd George's address and to disturb his rest after he reached the hotel.

The Irish band was armed with placards denouncing the ex-statesman as a "murderer" and mounted on high was a picture of Edmond De Valera. Mounted police sidled their horses into the throng and none too gently drove hundreds a block east. The most stubborn men and women alike, were taken into custody.

FIND NO NEW CLEWS IN THE WHITNEY CASE

Raid Twin Cities Brewing Companies But Make no Arrests

Minneapolis, Nov. 3.—New clues were uncovered today in the hunt for six of ten beer thieves who raided the New Munich brewery and seriously injured Arthur E. Whitney, a St. Cloud hospital and told the first clear story of what had happened, prohibition agents said today. Whitney was unconscious for several days following the battle three weeks ago and at various times reported at the point of death. Federal authorities did not disclose the nature of Whitney's report to them but said he was certain to recover.

A raid was made according to Mr. Duncan and investigation covering a period of two weeks. During the time agents had purchased 20 cases of "body-rub" alleged to have been manufactured at these plants, Mr. Duncan declared with which they gave purchasers "quenchers" and explained that through the use of them the liquor might be rediffused and qualities removed until the beverage could be used for medicinal purposes.

RAID KUNZ COMPANY.

Minneapolis, Nov. 3.—Twenty federal prohibition agents raided the Minneapolis Brewing company and the Kunz Preparation company, both of Minneapolis, seized both plants and all records of the company.

No arrests were made during the raid, but H. L. Duncan, northwest prohibition chief, said that several persons probably would be taken into custody during the day.

GOOD RECORD OF BOWMAN CO.

Thirteen graduates of Bowman High School, Bowman county, are attending the University of North Dakota this year, according to F. E. Diehl of this city. Bowman county, he said, is the farthest county from the university. Some of the students are listed as from Bismarck, since they are the children of state officials recently moving their families here, he said. The record is declared remarkable for a small high school.

BAVARIA ASKS DICTATOR TAKE REICH CONTROL

Report She Threatens March of Troops Unless Her Demand Is Heeded

MARK IS SINKING

Hasty Measures Are Adopted in Order to Prevent Further Collapse in Currency

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The Bavarian government, it is learned authoritatively, has sent a letter to Chancellor Stresemann demanding creation of a dictatorship for the Reich based on the Bavarian model. The letter adds that unless such a dictatorship is established in Berlin forthwith the Bavarian government intends to send the troops now concentrated on the Bavarian frontier against the capital.

ORDERS DISSOLUTION

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Defense Minister Gessler has ordered the dissolution of the "imperial council of workmen's society," an organization chiefly dominated by radical labor leaders.

HALL RUINED

Aix La Chapelle, Nov. 3. (By the A. P.) The famous old Kaiser hall at Aix, a treasure house of art wherein 37 German rulers were crowned prior to the year 1581 was a sorry spectacle today as the result of the fighting that took place within its walls yesterday between the Matthes separatists and the small group of police and firemen. The damage done is irreparable.

When the separatists temporarily successful in their attack on the building, were ordered by the Belgians to leave the city it did not take them long to comply. The Belgian officer's time limit was 90 minutes but immediately 1,500 Republicans marched to the station and entrained. One of them, who flaunted a Republican banner as the train was pulling out, was yanked from the train and taken to a square where with two others he was beaten. Two others were rescued in a drying condition by police.

The casualties in the fight at the town hall have not been estimated.

CABINET CONVOKED

Berlin, Nov. 3.—New York's appraisal of the mark on the basis of one and two-thirds trillion to the dollar moved Chancellor Stresemann to convocate a midnight session of his cabinet at which several emergency ordinances were proclaimed for the purpose of forestalling a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin. The government now will permit payment to be made in foreign currency, although it is prohibited to specify gold exchange as the sole medium of payment. The fading paper mark will still rank as the official currency and its acceptance as such is made obligatory.

COOLIDGE NOT FAVORABLE TO FRENCH IDEA

Believes That Limitation Placed Upon Reparations Conference Would Defeat It

U. S. MAY NOT JOIN

President's Attitude Has Depressing Effect Upon Outlook for Gathering

Washington, Nov. 3.—Whether the United States will have a part in the new reparations inquiry remains as much as unsettled question as 24 hours ago. Although a proposal for an expert commission under negotiations between London and Paris is regarded as having grown out of a plan ordinarily suggested by Secretary Hughes nearly a year ago, modifications brought forward by France made it appear that the final draft of the plan may render American participation futile. It is apparent that no final decision will be reached until the exact terms of the French are explained.

Paris, Nov. 3.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador, called on Premier Poincaré this morning and had a long conversation with him. The strictest secrecy regarding the subject of conference is maintained.

COOLIDGE VIEWS

Washington, Nov. 3.—Statements at the White House that President Coolidge would view the placing of restrictions on the proposed expert committee's inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay reparations as committing the plan to almost certain failure had a distinctly depressing effect today on the entire outlook.

What effect the indicated desire of Premier Poincaré of France to limit the scope of inquiry may have on the question of American participation was stated at the White House when the president's views were disclosed yesterday to be uncertain. It remains to be disclosed what stipulations France may attach in joining the allies in a formal invitation for an official American representation to the committee and it was indicated much would depend on the language in which these may be couched. Should they appear to place definite restrictions on the scope of the inquiry it was indicated that the Washington government probably would agree to American participation but only after plainly expressing its belief that attempt to settle the reparations question in that way would be futile.

Such restrictions as press accounts of Premier Poincaré's recent addresses indicate the French desire to place on the inquiry were said to be regarded by the president as altering entirely the basis on which the original American proposal was made for a study of the reparations problem. What was contemplated in that, it was said, an essential condition of any promise of success in the undertaking, was a "complete and inclusive" examination of the whole question.

TWO HELD IN JIMTOWN JAIL MAKE ESCAPE

Saw Heavy Iron Bars and Flee From the City During the Night

Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 3.—Sawing their way through two sets of heavy iron bars, Jim Howden and William Baxter, both held on charges of stealing automobiles in this state, escaped from the Jims town county jail between 10 o'clock last night and 7 a. m. today. Neither man had been apprehended up to noon.

Howden was extradited from Platteville, Minnesota, recently on a charge of stealing an automobile here and according to police officials had entered a plea of guilty. Baxter, who was alleged to have stolen an automobile from a Jamestown garage, had been convicted and sentenced to serve two years in prison. He was being held for the state transportation officer when he escaped.

Winsor, Grand Rapids, Mich., treasurer; and Andrew J. O'Reilly, St. Louis, secretary.

Howard M. Disher, cashier of the State Bank of Olmstead, Towner county, was arrested on charges of embezzlement and forgery there, according to information this afternoon to State Examiner Gilbert Sammons. He is charged with forging amounting to $32,000, the result of alleged duplication of farmers' notes, and a separate charge of forgery. It is charged that Disher would obtain farmers' notes, issue certificates of deposit for them and pocket money, according to examining. Shotage, he said, was discovered by the deputy examiner.

PRESIDENT OF SOO RAILROAD DIES AT HOME

Ptomaine Poisoning Fatal to Head of Big Railroad System of the Northwest

WELL KNOWN IN CITY

Had Often Visited Bismarck and Was Well Acquainted With Local Men

G. R. Huntington, president of the Soo railroad, died at 1 o'clock today at his home in Minneapolis, Minn., as a result of ptomaine poisoning. He was about 52 years of age. He was first taken ill about ten days ago after attending a banquet in Portland, Ore., at which he ate some crab meat that was said to have brought on ptomaine poisoning. Mr. Huntington was rushed back to Minneapolis by special train and was thought to be improving until today when his end came very suddenly.

Mr. Huntington was well known in Bismarck, where he made frequent visits. Only a few weeks ago he, together with other officials of the Soo railroad, were entertained by Bismarck business men. He made his place on the railroad through the various grades, serving it for more than 30 years. He started out as a train dispatcher and gradually continued his advance until he was promoted to the presidency of the company about a year ago.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife, two daughters, and a son.

The band appeared suddenly at the jail, overpowered two deputies, took their keys and made away with the prisoner. Telephone wires leading from the jail had been cut.

BUSINESS IN SLOPE IS ON THE UPGRADE

Steady Improvement as Varied Crops Worth Millions Are Marketed, Is Seen

DISTRICT COMPLIMENTED

Western North Dakota, Pitted Few Years Ago, Now Held Banner Spot of No. Dakota

Conditions on the Missouri Slope and Bismarck territory, which have been the subject of favorable comment by many visitors to the city, will improve in the future, according to the consensus of opinion of many men in finance and business who have surveyed the field.

The question has been asked often in Bismarck recently: "Why does the Missouri Slope seem the most prosperous section of the state right now?"

The answer, according to one financial man, is that western North Dakota has been through a period of three years ago, she touched the bottom at that time and since then she has been on the upgrade. The Slope had no big war crop, he added, which was considered hard at the time and did cause hardship but the lack of such a crop a visitation of the subsequent evils of inflation which is now bringing trouble upon many other sections of the Northwest.

That business will improve steadily in the Slope seems to be the belief of many keen business men. The Slope's "money crop" is just now beginning to get fully on the market, it is pointed out.

For the Slope's money crop is not wheat or rye—this year it is flax, corn, turkeys, cattle and hogs, and the daily "money crop" of butter and eggs.

Daily "Money Crop"

An example of the daily "money crop" is contained in the annual report of the Dairy Commission today, which shows butterfat sales in one year in Burleigh county amounting to nearly $400,000. McIntosh and Morton counties twice that amount and other Slope counties showing them to be the biggest dairy counties in the state.

The flax crop, which was exceptionally good, is comparatively heavy in western North Dakota. It was damaged some by the wet weather which delayed the threshing of flax, but also of other grains. Several million dollars worth of flaxseed is expected to be marketed within the next few weeks.

The corn crop is being placed on the market by many farmers as fast as possible, the producers endeavoring to sell their corn before there is any change in the present high price of that commodity.

The annual fall marketing of livestock is now under way, the movement being very heavy from Oliver, Dunn, Bowman and other western North Dakota counties.

The turkey crop is coming on, and between now and Christmas, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of turkeys will be sent from western North Dakota to the eastern markets.

Coal Mines Employ Many
The lignite coal industry is now getting under way for the fall and winter mining season, which not only will offer employment to hundreds of miners but also offers employment to many farmers living in the mining sections. Prospects are for another good year for this industry, which has developed fast in western North Dakota. Production of lignite field has increased 400 percent in the last 10 years, and has brought a steady flow of money into the western part of the state. Several of the mining companies are making greater inroads on the coal market in the twin cities and eastern Minnesota than in past years.

Corn production has increased 200 percent in the past five years, flax production in western North Dakota is estimated at 300 percent more this year than for the last three years average. The livestock industry of the western part of the state, hit hard immediately after the war, has been steadily recovering. Shipments from Killdeer, Dickinson and Bowman have shown big increases.

Many farmers in western North Dakota have suffered, and suffered keenly from general or specific conditions. At the same time others have prospered. The great body of farmers in the western part of the state, if one may believe those who have studied conditions, believe that the worst is past, that there is great value in the section, and that diversification is going to send this part of the state forward by leaps and bounds within the next few years.

The progress of the city of Bismarck during the last few years of adverse conditions has awakened comment by many visitors. With building this year running in excess of $700,000, exclusive of the city water plant.

POLICE BREAK ATTACKS UPON LLOYD GEORGE

BANNERS TORN DOWN

Efforts to Disturb Rest of Visitor in Hotel Are Broken Up by the Police

(By the Associated Press.)
New York, Nov. 3.—The police today prepared for another skirmish with Irish Republican sympathizers who have made two demonstrations against David Lloyd George since he set foot on American soil a month ago.

Heavy details of police and plainclothesmen were under orders to escort him from the Waldorf Astoria hotel to the pier of the Majestic on which he leaves for home.

The Irish-Republicans attempted their first demonstration when Mr. Lloyd George arrived at the Battery, but efforts of women to plant banners in his face at the city hall were frustrated by police who broke up the parade before the little Welchman reached there for an official welcome.

Last night mounted men were called into action and nearly a dozen persons arrested when they attempted to hold an anti-British meeting on Broadway in front of the opera house during Mr. Lloyd George's address and to disturb his rest after he reached the hotel.

The Irish band was armed with placards denouncing the ex-statesman as "a murderer" and mounted on high was a picture of Eamon De Valera. Mounted police sidled their horses into the throng and none too gently drove hundreds a block east.

The most stubborn, men and women alike, were taken into custody.

FIND NO NEW CLEWS IN THE WHITNEY CASE

Raid Twin Cities Brewing Companies But Make no Arrests

Minneapolis, Nov. 3.—New clues were uncovered today in the hunt for six of ten beer thieves who raided the New Munich brewery and seriously injured Arthur E. Whitney in a pitched battle. When Whitney regained consciousness in a St. Cloud hospital and told the first clear story of what had happened, prohibition agents said today, Whitney was unconscious for several days following the battle three weeks ago and at various times reported at the point of death. Federal authorities did not disclose the nature of Whitney's reports to them but said he was certain to recover.

A raid was made according to Mr. Duncan and investigation covering a period of two weeks. During the time agents had purchased 20 cases of "body-rub" alleged to have been manufactured at these plants, Mr. Duncan declared with which they gave purchasers "quenchers" and explained that through the use of them the liquor might be redistilled and qualities removed until the beverage could be used for medicinal purposes.

RAID KUNZ COMPANY

Minneapolis, Nov. 3.—Twenty federal prohibition agents raided the Minneapolis Brewing company and the Kunz Preparation company, both of Minneapolis, seized both plants and all records of the company.

No arrests were made during the raid, but H. L. Duncan, northwest prohibition chief, said that several persons probably would be taken into custody during the day.

GOOD RECORD OF BOWMAN CO.

Thirteen graduates of Bowman High School, Bowman county, are attending the University of North Dakota this year, according to F. E. Diehl of this city. Bowman county, he said, is the farthest county from the university. Some of the students are listed as from Bismarck, since they are the children of state officials recently moving their families, here he said. The record is declared remarkable for a small high school.

BAVARIA ASKS DICTATOR TAKE REICH CONTROL

Report She Threatens March of Troops Unless Her Demand Is Heeded

MARK IS SINKING

Hasty Measures Are Adopted in Order to Prevent Further Collapse in Currency

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The Bavarian government, it is learned authoritatively, has sent a letter to Chancellor Stresemann demanding creation of a dictatorship for the Reich based on the Bavarian model. The letter adds that unless such a dictatorship is established in Berlin forthwith the Bavarian government intends to send the troops now concentrated on the Bavarian frontier against the capital.

ORDERS DISSOLUTION

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Defense Minister Gessler has ordered the dissolution of the "imperial council of workmen's soviet," an organization chiefly dominated by radical labor leaders.

HALL RUINED

Aix La Chapelle, Nov. 3. (By the A. P.)—The famous old Kaiser hall at Aix, a treasure house of art wherein 37 German rulers were crowned prior to the year 1831 was a sorry spectacle today as the result of the fighting that took place within its walls yesterday between the Matthes separatists and the small guard of police and firemen. The damage done is irreparable.

When the separatists, temporarily successful in their attack on the building, were ordered by the Belgians to leave the city it did not take them long to comply. The Belgian officer's time limit was 90 minutes but immediately 1,800 Republicans marched to the station and entrained. One of them, who flaunted a Republican banner as the train was pulling out, was yanked from the train and taken to a square where with two others he was beaten. Two others were rescued in a dying condition by police.

CABINET CONVOKED

Berlin, Nov. 3.—New York's appraisal of the mark on the basis of one and two-thirds trillion to the dollar moved Chancellor Stresemann to convocate a midnight session of his rump cabinet at which several emergency ordinances were proclaimed for the purpose of forestalling a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin. The government now will permit payment to be made in foreign currency, although it is prohibited to specify gold exchange as the sole medium of payment. The fading paper mark will still rank as the official currency and its acceptance as such is made obligatory.

COOLIDGE NOT FAVORABLE TO FRENCH IDEA

Believes That Limitations Placed Upon Reparations Conference Would Defeat It

U. S. MAY NOT JOIN

President's Attitude Has De-pressing Effect Upon Outlook for Gathering

Washington, Nov. 3.—Whether the United States will have a part in the new reparations inquiry remains as much an unsettled question as 24 hours ago. Although a proposal for an expert commission under negotiations between London and Paris is regarded as having grown out of a plan ordinarily the basis of Secretary Hughes nearly a year ago. Modifications brought forward by France made it appear that the final draft of the plan may render American participation futile. It is apparent that no final decision will be reached until the exact terms of the French are explained.

Paris, Nov. 3.—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador, called on Premier Poincaré this morning and had a long conversation with him. The strictest secrecy regarding the subject of conference is maintained.

COOLIDGE VIEWS

Washington, Nov. 3.—Statements at the White House that President Coolidge would view the placing of restrictions on the proposed expert committee's inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay reparations as committing the plan to almost certain failure had a distinctly depressing effect today on the entire outlook.

What effect the indicated desire of Premier Poincaré of France to limit the scope of inquiry may have on the question of American participation was stated at the White House when the president's views were disclosed yesterday to be uncertain. It remains to be disclosed what stipulations France may attach in joining the allies in a formal invitation for unofficial American representation on the committee and it was indicated much would depend on the language in which these may be couched. Should they appear to place definite restrictions on the scope of the inquiry it was indicated that the Washington government probably would agree to American participation but only after plainly expressing its belief that attempt to settle the reparations question in that way would be futile.

Such restrictions as press accounts of Premier Poincaré's recent address indicate the French desire to place on the inquiry were said to be the basis of the president's view as to whether the plan was an original American proposal or a study of the reparations problem. What was contemplated in that, it was said, an essential condition of any promise of success in the undertaking, was a "complete and inclusive" examination of the whole question.

TWO HELD IN JIMTOWN JAIL MAKE ESCAPE

Saw Heavy Iron Bars and Flee From the City During the Night

Jamestown, N. D., Nov. 3.—Sawing their way through two sets of heavy iron bars, Jim Howden and William Baxter, both held on charges of stealing automobiles in this state, escaped from the Stutsman county jail between 10 o'clock last night and 7 a. m. today. Neither man had been apprehended up to noon. Howden was extradited from Plentywood, Montana, recently on a charge of stealing an automobile here and according to police officials had entered a plea of guilty. Baxter, who was alleged to have stolen an automobile from a Jamestown garage, had been convicted and sentenced to serve two years in prison. He was being held for the state transportation officer when he escaped.

FALL SOUGHT REMOVAL OF NAVY OFFICERS

Asked Transfer From Washington Because of Oil Leasing Objections, Testimony

Washington, Nov. 2.—Former Secretary of the Interior Fall demanded the transfer from Washington of naval officers who objected to leases he proposed to make on naval oil reserves. Commander H. A. Starat of the Navy testified today before the senate public lands committee investigating the subject.

NOT ENDANGERED

Washington, Nov. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The leasing of Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to the Harry F. Sinclair interests was unjustified if based on the danger of loss of oil by drainage through wells on adjoining property. W. C. Mendenhall, chief geologist of the geological survey told the senate committee investigating the lease. Frederick G. Clapp, geologist employed by the committee to survey the reserve, joined him in declaring the oil on the reserve should have been retained in the ground. Mendenhall testified the drainage of oil through nearby wells would have been negligible as the read oil reserve at Teapot Dome was protected by a belt of land surrounding it and included in the reserve through which drainage could not penetrate. The additional land had been included in the president's order creating the reserve for the specific purpose, he said, of preventing drainage of the main supply which it was intended should be held on the ground indefinitely.

Mr. Clapp declared the lease was justified as far south as the "fault," but said he did not consider it profitable to have 2,000,000 barrels in storage in the reserve. There was danger, he said, that the storage tanks might be destroyed by the enemy in time of war.

SAYS UTILITY WAS UNFAIR

F. A. Bobb's Action Against
Hughes Company Is Heard

The railroad commission has before it today the evidence adduced in the case in which Fred A. Bobb, restaurant proprietor, alleged unlawful discrimination by the Hughes Electric Company and demanded return of alleged excess meter deposit required. Evidence was taken in the case yesterday. Bobb alleged that last April current was shut off. He claimed that the meter was read in the middle of the month, before bills were due, and that the utility would not reconnect except on payment of a $80 meter deposit, which Bobb alleged was 45¢ more than regulations require. He claimed that after this $80 deposit was made the utility refused to connect unless $23.45 electric bill was paid up to date. He demanded return of the alleged $45 excess payment, and discontinuance of alleged aggravating methods of the utility.

The utility claimed there was an understanding with Bobb whereby bills were to be paid twice a month, that the discontinuance was made after the middle of the month bill was due and admitted it would not reconnect unless the bill was paid up to the 23th.

He is venerable master of the lodge of Perfection of the Fargo Scottish Rite body but will resign that office, it was announced.

Warehouse Frightened

Manila, Nov. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Another earthquake shock, the fourth in three days, lasting about 10 seconds, was reported here at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon. No damage has been reported. The origin of the tremors is said to have been near Taal volcano, which is located on a small island in Bonbon lake, Luzon.

Employees in a big army warehouse in the business district, frightened by falling boxes and cases shaken down by the quake rushed into the street but no one is believed to have been injured.

BUY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Investments Made by North
Dakotans Show Increase

Fargo, Nov. 2.—North Dakota is far from broke and the people of the state will have money to invest, according to figures given out by Postmaster Hugh C. Corrigan of Fargo. These figures showed that the sale of United States treasury savings certificates during the month of October was almost 28 times as large as in October last year. In other words the sale increased more than 2,000 per cent in one year.

The sale of the certificates more than doubled for the month of October over the September sales and the comparison with sales during the corresponding months last year shows a violent contrast.

In September of last year the sales totaled $20,845, this year during September the sales rose to $82,248. During October a year ago the sales were only $6,389.50. This year the funds so far collected for October sales total $184,810, with approximately $25,000 not yet turned in by agents over the state, Postmaster Corrigan says.

CHOLERA KILLS MANY HOGS

North Dakota Not One of States in Which Heavy
Loss Is Sustained

Washington, Nov. 2.—Cholera killed approximately 4 per cent of the hogs on the farms in the United States during the last year. The Bureau of Animal Industry, announcing these statistics today, said losses were heaviest in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Georgia, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Each of these states, it is estimated, lost more than 100,000 head from the disease.

The total number of swine lost from hog cholera exceeded 2,250,000, valued at approximately $29,393,000.

BANKS ARE NOT BEING CLOSED

Fargo, Nov. 2.—State banks are not being closed in North Dakota now and have not been for some time, Secretary W. C. Macfadden of the North Dakota Bankers' association said. He declared that the reports of closed banks that have appeared in the press the past few weeks have been erroneous in that these institutions were not closed but were merely placed in the hands of a trustee, as provided by Senate bill No. 250 passed by the late legislature.

"These banks have not been closed but are still doing business," said Mr. Macfadden. "Owing to extraordinary withdrawals some banks have had their reserves impaired and unless the new law had been invoked they probably would have been forced to close. Now they are enabled to remain open and are doing business under the state deposits guaranty fund which absolutely protects the new depositors against loss."

THREE CHANGES IN HAIL LAW MAY BE URGED

Zoning of State Among Suggestions Arising for Changes in the Law

While no action has yet been taken it is expected that Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olmstead and officials of the state hail department will, in the near future, begin preparation of a program of legislation to be submitted to the voters through initiative petitions at the next March election making changes in the state hail insurance law.

The suggestion of Governor Nestos that, if desired, the March election be used to change the law to permit surplus funds to be used in paying losses in full for this year finds accord in the state hail insurance department. Hail warrants will be paid at 80 percent of their face value before January 1, and should the law be changed next March an additional 20 percent payment would be made.

It is possible that if a program of legislation is presented it will include a change in the law to zone the state. Districts of the state would be classified as to the degree of risk of insuring crops in those sections, as revealed by the loss experience of the department since 1919. Rates would vary in accordance with the risk entailed in the insurance. Zoning has been suggested before by the state department but not demanded as a change in the law.

Commissioner of Insurance Olmstead has also expressed opposition to the provision in the state hail insurance law making 50 cents an acre the maximum indemnity tax on $7,000 an acre insurance, and an amendment along this line is expected to be introduced.

The state hail department, according to Manager Martin Hagen, has the losses in several counties this year ready for certification to the state auditor for payment. A large force is engaged in making tax deductions before the amount of loss of each individual is certified. Losses in several counties will be paid immediately after December 1, he said, and all warrants probably will be out by December 15. Payments will begin with Adams county this year, and he made alphabetically, according to counties. Warrants will be paid in cash.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT GAINS EARLY TODAY

Trading Is Lively on the Chicago Exchange

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Wheat scored a material advance in price today during the early dealings. Strength in the cotton market and in stocks gave more confidence to wheat bulls and there were also indications of belief on the part of many traders that government help in lifting values was nearer at hand. Buying, however, failed to develop any unusual volume. The opening which ranged from 1-8 to 5-8 cents to 3-4 cents higher with December $1.07 1-4 to 5-8 and May $1.12 1-4 to 5-8 was followed by moderate further gains. Although reaction ensued much of the gain was held at the finish. NEW TRAINING SCHOOL 'GYM' PROGRESSING
Boys at Training School Will Do Most of Work on Huge Structure
Three-fourths of the labor on a new gymnasium and auditorium building for the State Training School at Mandan, which will be one of the largest buildings of its kind of any state institution, is being done by boys in the school, according to W. F. McClelland, superintendent.

The training school boys are doing the construction work, except that for which experienced bricklayers and carpenters are needed.

The gym building will be 123 by 89, the front part two stories. With two weeks more mild weather all of the concrete in the walls will be poured and the building can be finished so that basketball can be played in it February 1, Mr. McClelland said. The front of the building will contain on the second floor lockers and shower baths. The gymnasium proper will have a ceiling 23.8 feet high, a suspended running track and a basketball floor 72 by 123 feet. Construction is of reinforced concrete and hollow tile. All the tile was laid by the training school boys.

Other improvements being made at the school included replastering and rewiring the main building, and plastering and rewiring the girls' building.

Good crops were raised at the training school this year, Mr. McClelland said. Corn went better than 50 bushels to the acre, 450 tons of ensilage was obtained, 16 bushels of alfalfa seed obtained, 3,000 bushels of oats and 2,500 bushels of potatoes raised, with other grain and vegetables. Lack of adequate storage facilities forces the institution to sell some of these products, particularly vegetables, and buy later on, he said.

Here's Proof That Advertising Pays
Famous Wrigley Building in Chicago Being Doubled in Size
The part of the Wrigley Building erected two years ago has filled such a want that the north section, nearly double the floor area of the south section, is being added. This north section, nearly completely occupies the entire block, immediately across North Water Street, fronting on Michigan Avenue and reaching to the height of the main part of the first structure, with a connecting bridge. The space in the new section is already nearly all taken by high-class firms in advance of the completion of the building.

Here is a concrete (as well as a steel and glass) proof of the saying that "advertising pays." In these magnificent buildings Mr. Wrigley has created an impressive testimonial to this great truth. They loom large and beautiful. They typify the achievements of the man who built them. They stand as a monitor over the activity of the Nation's second city—inspiring—dominating—massive—bearing unanswerable testimony to the POWER OF ADVERTISING.

FINE PICTURE IS SECURED
Announcement was made today by Manager Wingreene of the Capitol Theatre of the showing here of "The Merry-Go-Round," the widely heralded Universal Super-Jewel production which took New York by storm when it was shown at the Rivoli Theatre, one of the moving picture palaces of Broadway. Manager Wingreene is elated over the closing of the contracts as bidding for the picture was spirited and it was only after days of telephoning and telegraphing that the deal was closed. "Merry-Go-Round" was a nine months in the making and more than 1,000 actors and actresses took part. The cost of building the elaborate set to duplicate the Prater, which is the Coney Island of Vienna, the emperor's castle and other historic spots was enormous, but this expenditure was more than justified by the final excellence. Travelers who have visited Vienna admit that Universal has achieved something very much worth while in duplicating the locales so faithfully. The local engagement will open Monday.

MANY PLEDGE DISABLED VETS DAY OF AID

"Forget-me-not Day" Is Endorsed by Officials Throughout the Nation

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Following the hearty endorsement by President Calvin Coolidge of the "National Forget-Me-Not Day" Campaign of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, other Government departments and officials have tendered their pledges of support to the plans of the disabled vets for a national observance of their "Day." Frank Irwin, national legislative committee chairman of the Disabled American Veterans, issued a statement today, pointing out that practically every patriotic, fraternal and civic body in the entire United States has given its support to the preparations for "Forget-Me-Not Day."

"Forget-Me-Not Day" is to be observed this year on Saturday, Nov. 10; and already committees have been formed in several hundred cities and towns in the United States to direct the day's activities. New cities and towns are being enrolled daily in the big nation-wide movement. The Central Trust Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, is national treasurer of the "National Forget-Me-Not Day" movement; and National Commander James A. McFarland and other national officers of the Disabled American Veterans, at national headquarters here, are directing preparations for the November 10 campaign.

A score of summer camps for disabled and wounded American war veterans in various areas of the country, will be materialized, as one of the many objectives of "Forget-Me-Not Day." Better opportunities for the disabled men to rehabilitate themselves in civilian jobs, and general assistance in welfare and relief measures for the wounded vets, are included in the aims of "Forget-Me-Not Day."

Several thousands of pretty girls will distribute the little forget-me-nots to public-spirited in various communities on November 10. Banks in the various cities and towns where drives are being held will offer the forget-me-nots to the respective committees. In most instances the committees will work under the direction of the mayors of the various cities, in cooperation with the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

PLAIN COOKING BEING TAUGHT AT THE A. C.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—"Can she make a cherry pie, Billie-boy?" Now that the special twenty-two week cooking course has begun at the Agricultural college, at least four girls at A. C. will be able to answer affirmatively to that old nursery rhyme question.

Practical, plain cooking is taught on a definitely outlined plan. The course is divided into three main groups: breakfasts, luncheons and dinners. When the class has learned to plan and to prepare a well-balanced breakfast, it proceeds to learning about luncheons.

"At the beginning of the week the class is given a talk introductory to the particular food to be considered during that week. For example, the girls in the class are now studying eggs. They were first given a brief lecture on the general structure, composition, food value, preservation and use of eggs. Later they will have opportunity to observe and to carry out in actual practice the principles given to them in the lecture," said Miss Root, instructor, in charge of the course.

STERN ENTERS WILLISTON BANK

Fargo, Nov. 3.—Alex Stern of Fargo, was elected president of the First National bank of Williston in the reorganization of the institution, just completed.

A. W. Fowler, also of Fargo, has been elected a member of the directorate.

Associated with Mr. Stern, Mr. Fowler and others in the reorganization was Otto Bremer, prominent St. Paul banker. Mr. Bremer was elected vice-president.

W. S. Davidson of Williston, was named vice-president, and George Nelson, cashier. Mr. Fowler and John H. Shaw of Williston, complete the board of directors.

The capital stock of the bank is $75,000, and its deposits have totaled about $1,500,000. It is one of the largest banks of its size in the northwest.

"Too Old" To Be County Treasurer

Watford City, N. D., Nov. 3.—Inasmuch as the McKenzie county treasurer, John Moran, "is an old man with no experience in this office, we would leave all new work and money with the new deputy and clerk," a state examiner recommended in a report submitted to the county commissioners, following a check of the records of the treasurer's office.

"The deputy and clerk are well qualified to handle the work and balance without difficulty and in this way the affairs of the office would run along without any trouble," continued the examiner's recommendation.

The Watford City Guide, editorially commenting on the affairs in the treasurer's office, suggests that Treasurer Moran resign "at the earliest possible moment."

Annual Music Festival to Bring Many Contestants to Forks

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 3.—One hundred twenty schools of North Dakota have to date signified they intend to compete in the annual state high school music contests this year. Prof. E. H. Wilcox, head of the department of music at the University of North Dakota and director of the contests, announces. This is a considerable increase over last year, he states.

Six district contests are to be held again this year to eliminate contestants and lessen the number to compete in the final event at the university next May. The final contests have reached such proportions that semifinals at the university have to be held simultaneously in three buildings over three days.

Test pieces have been selected for the girls glee club and chorus events in the contests. They were announced this week by Professor Wilcox as follows: Girls glee club—"Row Us, Row Us Swiftly," by Campana; chorus—"There Is Music in the River," by Piusini. The boys glee club test piece is expected to be announced in December. Test pieces are selections which every contesting club has to sing in order to give one song as a common basis of judgment.

Some Consolidated Schools Eligible.

Besides high schools, consolidated schools giving high school work, are eligible to the contests this year. Three rules are announced, tending to level the playing field between the small schools and the large schools, and between the schools of varying distance from the contesting point. They are:

- (1) No boys glee club or girls glee club shall number more than 24 members.
- (2) No chorus shall number more than 36 members.
- (3) No school will be permitted to register more than 50 contestants as a total for all events not including bands and orchestras.

GERMAN HONOR QUAKERS

Berlin, Nov. 2.—In recognition of the relief work performed in Germany by American and English Quakers during the last three years, half a million children throughout the country recently joined in a celebration in honor of the Quakers. The latter undertook to feed and nourish children, and while they are still carrying on some of their work in 1,600 places in Germany, the greater part of their activities has been taken over by German organizations.

terworks plant, there still is need for additional building.

The waterworks construction is expected to continue all winter, furnishing considerable employment. Several houses have been started recently, with the builders intending to finish them by January 1. The government revetment work on the Missouri river will bring a payroll of about $75,000 for a period of three or four months.

The compliments which are being paid to Bismarck and the Missouri Slope country by many visitors have awakened a new feeling of pride. Whereas a few years ago stories of terrible suffering were being broadcast the information now being carried to the outside world is that the Missouri Slope country is the banner spot of North Dakota.

STATE LICENSE IS REVOKED

The license of Ole Culbertson, soft drink and cigar store proprietor of Endrin, has been revoked because cigarettes were sold minors, it was announced at the Attorney-General's office today. Evidence, it was said, was secured by "under cover" men. The pool hall of Frank Rankowski, at Minot, said to have been operating without a license, was closed.

PROGRESS NOTED

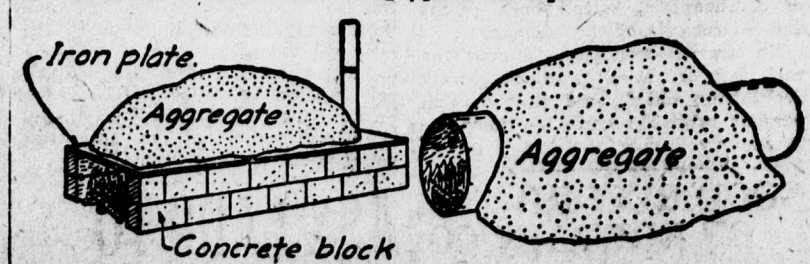

AT INDIAN FAIR

Devils Lake, N. D., Nov. 3.—Noteworthy progress in farming by North Dakota Indians was shown by exhibits at the Fort Totten fair held on the Indian reservation near here. More than 30 Indian exhibits were shown and each Indian brought from 4 to 18 products as evidence of his skill in farming.

The Indian fair resembled a tent-city in the heart of the reservation. The Indians set up their tents around the fair ground and set up a model Indian village with the big tribal tent in the center. Tribal dances and campfires were held in the evening.

How to Heat Aggregates for Winter Concreting

TO PREVENT the freezing of concrete before the necessary chemical changes incident to its hardening have taken place, all concrete work done at temperatures below 50 degrees Fahrenheit should be carefully protected from frost. Not only the water used in mixing the concrete, but the aggregates, also, that is, the sand and pebbles, should be heated. This can be easily and quickly done right on the job, by rigging up a crude stove. Two types of such stoves are in common use.

One type consists of a section of old culvert pipe, smoke stack, boiler shell or other metal cylinder, inside of which a fire is built and the aggregate heaped over the top. When no suitable metal pipe is available a stove may be rigged up by building low walls of concrete block or brick, covered with an iron plate. The walls need not be more than 18 to 24 inches high. With one end open and a chimney improvised at the other, a furnace is provided which will quickly and thoroughly heat the aggregates piled on top.

No matter what form of stove is used, it is important to keep the aggregates separate in heating, so that the fine and coarse materials may not become mixed prematurely in wrong proportions. Each pile of aggregates should be turned over occasionally to insure uniform heating of the entire pile and to make sure that no lumps of ice or frozen material escape and get into the mixer.

BUSINESS MAN GIVES HINT FOR SUCCESS

Tells Youth the Qualities to Cultivate to Make Good

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Honesty integrity and faithfulness, character, love of employer, ambition, personal neatness and unlimited cooperation, are the chief qualities boys and girls should cultivate in school in order to become successfully fit for the business world, according to expressions of more than a score of Chicago's biggest business men and employers who were questioned on the subject by the Association of Commerce. They almost all said that a high school education is sufficient to the attainment of the highest success, "provided the study in school is applied correctly to the purpose of the future."

Extracts from some of the answers follow:

"The fundamentals of a successful business life should not be measured in dollars and cents, but in achievements," said J. E. Gorman, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad. "Honesty, loyalty and ambition may be stated as the basic principles. Personality sometimes goes a long way, but personality without the requisite knowledge does not carry a young man to that height that he would attain by a complete mastery of the subject in hand."

"Cultivate and form the habit of trying to see the best side of your associates and fellow workers; avoid and suppress the habit of knocking and disparaging others; cultivate neatness, tidiness and cheerfulness, courtesy and respect for those in authority," says W. W. K. Sparrow, vice-president, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

LOCAL MARKET IS MILL NEED

Difficulties of European Trade Recited by C. E. Austin

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 3.—Development of a market in the northwestern states for as much as possible of the products of the state mill and elevator here has been and is his purpose, C. E. Austin, manager of the institution, said in addressing the local Kiwanis club.

He discussed the condition surrounding the wheat trade of the world in which a small section of western Europe, with a dense population, producing less breadstuffs than it uses, provides the market for those sections in which a less dense population produces a surplus of such products. In that market the surplus of the entire world meets, and it is on the basis of the selling price there that prices everywhere are fixed, he said.

Because of the variety of wheat that comes to their market, Mr. Austin said, the English millers have developed methods of mixing superior to those known elsewhere, and he predicted that as time went on the English market would be less flour and more wheat.

Must consider World Market. This condition, he said, must be recognized in the operation of the state mill, and it has been his purpose to develop in the northwestern states a market for as much of the mill's product as possible, in the those states the housewives have formed the habit of using hard spring wheat flour, and will pay a suitable price for it.

He told of the operation of the mill in the first six months, when new market connections had to be established at great expense. That cost figured in the $108,000 operating deficit for those months, but the work done would prevent similar expense later on. Since the third week in July approximately sales up to the capacity of the mill have been made in the territory west of Chicago. As to the future of the institution—he said that the mill alone could not be made to pay operating expenses plus interest on bonds and depreciation on the entire plant. Freight Rates Held Unfavorable.

Thus far the operation of the elevator has been hampered by unfavorable freight rates and lack of funds, he said. When these matters are adjusted he was satisfied that the institution could pay at least a part of the interest on the bonds, but he said that no conclusions could be reached from the operations of a few months or a single year. The problem should be studied through a cycle of years, not less than five.

Mitchel Field, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The fastest speed ever attained by man was made yesterday by Lieutenant H. J. Brow, navy aviator, who flew over a three kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 269.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he traveled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour.

Brow's record was attained in competition with Lieutenant W. J. Williams, former pitcher, on the New York Giants and winner of the Pulitzer, both men flying navy Curtiss planes.

Brow went up first and set a pace of 237.42 miles an hour, and Williams was seen in the air, intent on beating that record. When his plane reached the ground he found he had flown 258.61 miles an hour. As he was being congratulated by army officers and others who watched the speed trials, Brow ran to his plane.

After eight years' work an eastern woodcarver has completed a table made from 113,540 different pieces of wood.

MANY PLEDGE
DISABLED VETS
DAY OF AID

"Forget-me-not Day" Is Endorsed by Officials Throughout the Nation

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Following the hearty endorsement by President Calvin Coolidge of the "National Forget-Me-Not Day" Campaign of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, other Government departments and officials have tendered their pledges of support to the plans of the disabled veterans for a national observance of "Day." Frank Irwin, national legislative committee chairman of the Disabled American Veterans, issued a statement today, pointing out that practically every patriotic, fraternal and civic body in the entire United States has given its support to the preparations for "Forget-Me-Not Day."

"Forget-Me-Not Day" is to be observed this year on Saturday, Nov. 10; and already committees have been formed in several hundred cities and towns in the United States to direct the day's activities. New cities and towns are being enrolled daily in the big nation-wide movement. The Central Trust Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, is national treasurer of the "National Forget-Me-Not Day" movement; and National Commander James A. McFarland and other national officers of the Disabled American Veterans, at national headquarters here, are directing preparations for the November 10 campaign.

A score of summer camps for disabled and wounded American war veterans in various areas of the country will materialize, as one of the many objectives of "Forget-Me-Not Day." Better opportunities for the disabled men to rehabilitate themselves in civilian jobs, and general assistance in welfare and relief measures for the wounded vets, are included in the aims of "Forget-Me-Not Day."

Several thousands of pretty girls will distribute the little forget-me-nots to public-spirited in various communities on November 10. Banks in the various cities and towns where drives are held, will act as local headquarters for the respective committees. In most instances the committees will work under the direction of the mayors of the various cities, in cooperation with the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

PLAIN COOKING
BEING TAUGHT
AT THE A. C.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3.—"Can she make a cherry pie, Billie-boy?" Now that the special twenty-two week cooking course has begun at the Agricultural college, at least four girls at A. C. will be able to answer affirmatively to that old nursery rhyme question.

Practical, plain cooking is taught on a definitely outlined plan. The course is divided into three main groups: breakfast, luncheon, and dinner. When the class has learned to plan and to prepare a well-balanced breakfast, it proceeds to learning about luncheons.

"At the beginning of the week the class is given a talk introductory to the particular food to be considered during that week. For example, the girls in the class are now studying eggs. They were given general instruction on the general structure, composition, food value, preservation and use of eggs. Later they will have opportunity to observe and to carry out in actual practice the principles given to them in the lecture," said Miss Root, instructor, in charge of the course.

W. S. Davidson of Williston, was named vice-president, and George Nelson, cashier. Mr. Fowler and John H. Shaw of Williston, complete the board of directors.

The capital stock of the bank is $75,000, and its deposits have totaled about $1,500,000. It is one of the strongest banks of its size in the northwest.

"Too Old" To Be

Watford City, N. D., Nov. 3.—Inasmuch as the McKenzie county treasurer, John Moran, "is an old man with no experience in this office," we would leave a work with funds and money with the new deputy and clerk, a state examiner recommended in a report submitted to the county commissioners, following a check of the records of the treasurer's office.

"The deputy and clerk are well qualified to handle the work and balance without difficulty and to carry on the affairs of the county without along without any further concern of the examiner's recommendation."

The Watford City Guide, editorially commenting on the affair in the treasurer's office suggests that "Treasurer Moran resign at the earliest possible moment."

Annual Music Festival to

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 3.—One hundred twenty schools of North Dakota have to date signified their intent to compete in the annual state high-school music contests this year. Prof. E. H. The final contests have reached such proportions that seminals at the university have to be held simultaneously in three buildings over three days.

Test pieces have been selected for the girls glee club and chorus events in the contests. THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL
Mr. Lloyd George is perhaps the most welcome foreign visitor the United States has had since the war. He came with a smile, he tactfully has made his way, driven home his convictions without seeming to be speaking to the American people as from a pulpit, and he will have left some very grave questions for Americans to consider.

In Philadelphia, Mr. Lloyd George reiterated warnings made in a previous speech that Democracy is on trial throughout the civilized world. The after-the-war development has been not a step forward in democratizing the world, but a reversion to dictatorships and monarchies. The war did save for the world the only three great Democracies left—United States, France and Great Britain. Mr. Lloyd George placed the problem before the American people in this language:

"Democracy is in greater peril at this hour than it has probably ever been. Immediately after the war there was a strong current running in its favor through all lands. Empires and kingdoms fell, autocracies were swept away, new democracies sprang up from the soil of Europe everywhere. In a few years a reaction has set in, and four great countries that had started on the road of democratic government have for the moment abandoned it and set up dictatorships—Russia, Italy, Spain, and, for the moment, Germany.

"Beyond that there is an undercurrent of hostility to democracy and democratic institutions. You can hear it everywhere—in the little-tattle of the boudoirs and the growls of the clubs and democracy for the moment is in great jeopardy. It is in jeopardy after its greatest trial.

"I wonder how many realize that the last war, which was the greatest struggle ever waged in the history of mankind, was largely a struggle between democracies and autocracies. You had the military autocracy of Germany, of Austria, of Turkey; and even Bulgaria set up a military autocracy. You had ranged on the other side the democracy of France, the democracy of Britain, the democracy of this great Republic. We had one autocracy on our side, Russia, which was with us the first two years of the war."

The former British premier pointed to the forebodings on the allied side because democracies were ranged against autocracies in the war. Centralized government in autocracies appeared to give them a great advantage. It was an advantage at the outset. But it is the spirit of a democratic government that wins a long war.

The United States, as did all allied countries, vested almost dictatorial powers in some civil officials during the war, and government bureaus grew more powerful than ever before. The late President Harding rendered a great service to the country in his sane demobilization of the great, centralized governmental war system.

There are ever-watchful forces in the nation now guarding it from the attempts to undermine the American representative form of government, to prevent another Russian dictatorship, to preserve the fundamental principles of the nation. Oftentimes such enthusiasts are chided and charged with flaunting fanciful dangers. But there is in the clear statement of fact by Mr. Lloyd George a danger signal that should not be ignored in the United States.

YOUR OWN BOSS
The Armour meat packing company tells its 60,000 employees they can become silent partners in the business by buying preferred stock. This stock will be sold to employees on the installment plan. It will pay guaranteed dividends of 7 per cent.

Only a few years since the Armour firm was practically "a closed corporation." That is to say, the Armour family owned most of it and controlled all of it.

Observe a straw showing which way the wind's blowing. There's really nothing unusual about the Armour method of letting employees buy an interest in the business. Many businesses already have the same system in operation.

It's the ideal way to save. The method usually is for the employee to subscribe to pay so much a week, then that amount is regularly taken from his pay envelope.

The employee with stock in the business is more loyal and works harder. That's the theory, at any rate and it averages true. So it's a definite part of the "efficiency" movement.

You never can tell where such a thing, once started, will lead. Take a business employing 100,000 men. If each of them invested $1000, there's a fund of 100 million dollars. Quite a fund, that.

Will the day come when employees, by their savings, will buy a controlling interest, then gradually take over the businesses that employ them? An interesting prospect, decidedly a possibility.

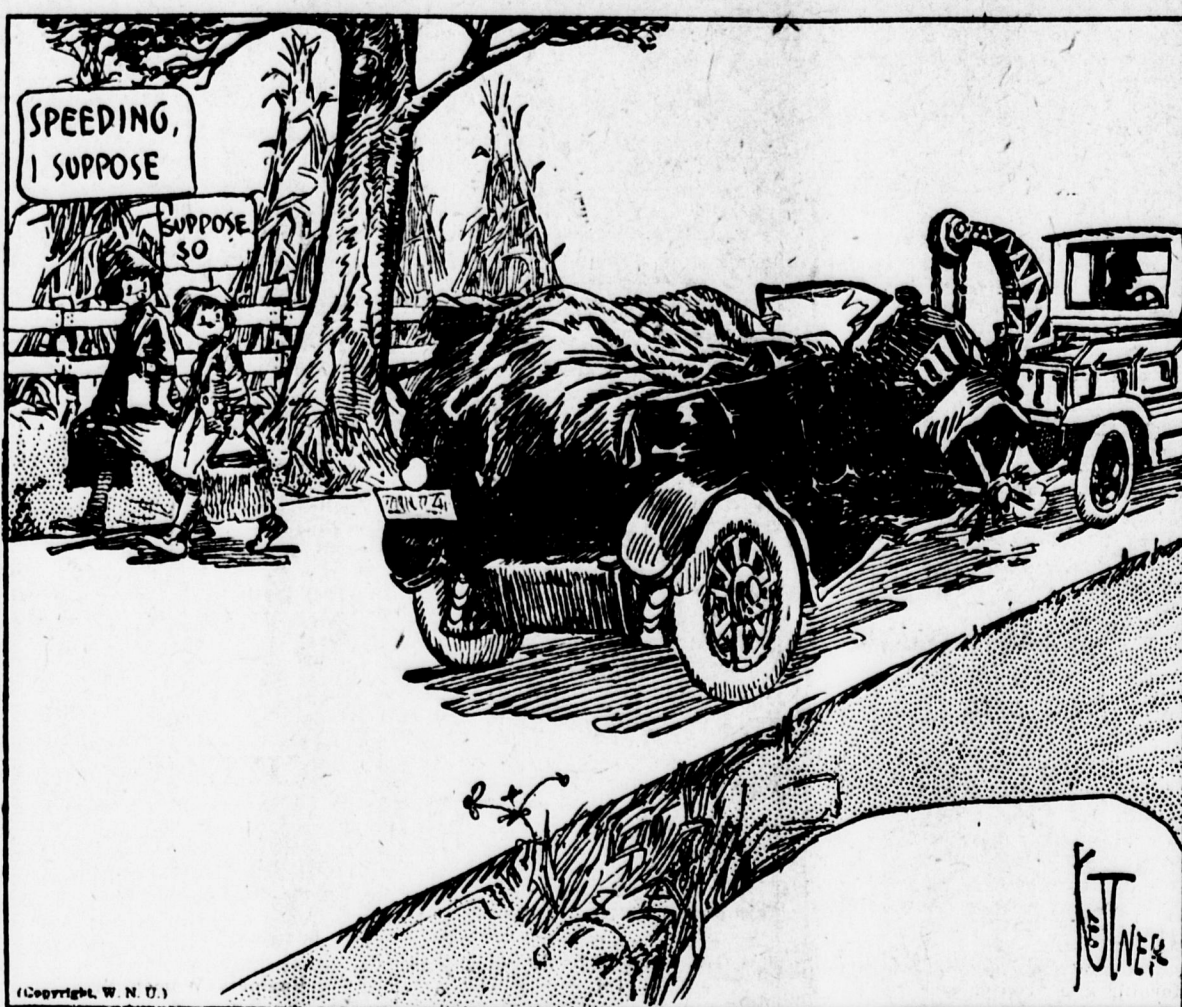

MAY STANDARDIZE HUMANITY
A race of people six feet tall, none taller, none shorter, could be produced by proper medical treatment of the endocrine glands—especially the thyroid gland in the neck. This is one of the odd views expressed at the clinical congress of American College of Surgeons.

It should especially interest the Japanese. And if the rest of us don't keep an eye open, the efficiency experts may decide to standardize humanity. The job is well started—in the matter of standardized clothing, food, routine, amusement and thought.

CRUELTY OF NATURE
You've seen animals, packed together in freight cars, being rushed to market—squealing, snorting, bellowing in fright. Nearly 13,000 a year died during shipment and over 10,000 are crippled, according to President Stillman of American Humane Association.

This probably is only a small fraction of the animals that arrive safely at the butcher's. But it starts one thinking about the terrible cruelty of nature, in which life cannot exist except by destroying other life.

CABLEGRAM FROM ALICE HAMILTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

(Cable delayed. Just received.)
Be careful. Don't go off half-cocked. Sit tight and say nothing. Love, ALICE.

Letter From Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott To Priscilla Bradford

MY DEAR PRISCILLA:
You cannot tell how lonely I have been since you left me for New York. It is not good for an old woman like me to live alone and I am delighted to know that when you return you are going to bring whatever part of your goods and chattels you may desire and come over to my house or rather your house—and live with me until the book is closed. Today I made my will, my dear, and left you all my small possessions.

It is a sad thing, dear Priscilla, to realize after you have borne a child and brought him up as nearly God-fearing as you could, that he would cast off his mother in her old age. Although it grieves me to the heart to know this, my grief is not nearly as good as my fear—for him—for we know that just so surely as a child casts off his father or mother, just so surely will he be cast off by his child. This of course is more sure in the case of John, because he has taken into his heart and home a nameless child who will surely disappoint, if not dishonor, him.

I am quite sure you are mistaken, dear Priscilla, about seeing Leslie on the street in New York. I have learned in a roundabout way that her father is very ill and if she had left her home for any place it would be to go to him. I would write to her or to John and say that you thought you had seen her, but I solemnly vowed to myself that I would never again write to my son until he has written to me and in some way apologize, if not ask my forgiveness, for the letters he has sent me.

I do not want to shorten your stay at all in New York City, but I shall be very lonely until you return to me. Your devoted friend,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Night Letter From Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton to Leslie Prescott

Your father has been improving steadily since we got him up here in the mountains. He is asking for you every day. Why don't you bring little Jack and come up and see him? He talks continually of his grandchild. Come up, dear, as soon as you can.

Night Letter From Leslie Prescott To Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton
Unless father needs me very much I would rather wait until later. Little Jack has been quite ill, but is better now. I did not write to you because I thought you had worries enough without my trouble. Do you hear anything from Alice? Love, LESLIE.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Too wit, too wit, too weot, weot, sugar cane's good and sweet," sang a little bird blithely. Nancy and Nick peeped through the cane-stalks to see who was singing and saw a little gray and white bird sitting on top of one of them, singing as though his throat would burst.

"My, but you have a nice voice!" said Nancy. "What's your name, little bird?"

"My name is Merry-Bill Mocking Bird," answered the little bird, not a bit frightened at seeing a little boy and girl so close to him. "And where do you live?" asked Nick.

"Oh, merry anywhere at all, answered Merry-Bill carelessly. "I was born in my mother's nest, snugly hidden in some Spanish moss in an old oak-tree near a house in Dixie Land. I stayed at home until I was educated and since then I've lived 'most any place at all!"

"Where you educated?" asked Nancy. "What did you learn?"

"Flying and singing and a few manners," said the little bird. "Although I am afraid I didn't learn any too many manners, because I love to tease people so. Besides I can imitate any sound I have ever heard. That's where I get my name. I can mock anything from a cat to a sawmill."

"I know a bird that can do that!" said Nick. "He's called Casper Cat-Bird."

"Well I declare!" said Merry-Bill. "Isn't that interesting, though? Casper Cat-Birds my cousin and he learned a lot from me. He can do almost anything that I can do."

"Say, Mister Mocking Bird," said Nancy, "can you go like a robin?"

"Can't I, though? Just listen!" "Cherree, cherree, red and sweet, red and sweet."

"Good to eat, eat, eat!" "That's fine!" cried the Twins, clapping their hands with delight.

"Can you go like a crow?" asked Nick eager for more.

"Can't I just listen!" said Mister Mocking Bird, and he went, "Caw caw, caw!" exactly like Chris Crow out in the corn-field.

After that he gave a regular concert, imitating every bird he knew from a wood to a pig-pen.

"That's fine!" cried the Twins, clapping their hands with delight.

"Can you go like a crow?" asked Nick eager for more.

"Can't I just listen!" said Mister Mocking Bird, and he went, "Caw caw, caw!" exactly like Chris Crow out in the corn-field.

WEAR HIGH SHOES FOR PERFECTION

Low Cuts Cause Big Ankles and Back Ache, Says Possessor of Perfect Foot

BY MARIAN HALE.

New York, Nov. 3.—The first aid to the perfect foot is the high lace boot, according to the petite Daphne Pollard, whose feet have taken prizes in England and Australia, and now in America.

Prepare for a shock when I tell you the size. She actually keeps those perfect Tribbles in a size 13—girl's size!

But then she is only four feet eight inches tall—or I should say, short—and 95 is the highest number she's ever been able to raise on the scales. But in their small way, her feet are declared perfect.

And she attributes their perfection to the high boot most of us have discarded.

"Nothing like it," she declares, "to keep the ankle slim and give the arches support. No, I know they aren't fashionable, but they should be. Low pumps worn constantly bring the larger ankle in time, that's certain."

"I haven't always been as particular about my feet as I am now," she goes on. "For a while I was enslaved by the high-heeled pump and wore it constantly. Then I noticed backaches and hurt insteps. So I switched to low heels and exaggeratedly sensible effects and while my feet were perfectly comfortable I never looked very smart myself."

Purpose for Each.

"Now I vary the daily shoe program. I wear high boots when I have much walking to do—and I take many hikes. For golf I wear low, flat shoes that give my toes a chance to spread out and exercise as they should. And I dance every day in my bare feet."

"This way I give my feet plenty of exercise and keep them healthy so I can wear high heels when I want to dress up and not be injured by them."

This diminutive comedienne, now a star in the "Greenwich Village Follies," is an Australian by birth, and has spent much of her time in England. But since her first visit to America, years ago, she has been a patron of American shoe dealers.

"No matter what country I live in, I have all my shoes made here," she confides. "English shoes are ugly and Parisian models too stubby, but American lasts are just right. No wonder everyone marvels at the American woman's feet!"

Miss Pollard believes shoes emphasize the costume just as hats do. "If I had my choice between a new frock

Farrar Sings Two Concert Songs—First Records by New Spanish Tenor

Geraldine Farrar, in a manner of peaking, takes up her needles again this week and, in the words of the early Thane of Cawdor, "knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care" with two whimsical melodies that chase the glooms most effectively. Tosti's "La Serenata" is one of the most loveliest happy little melodies we know, and Miss Farrar distills all the sweetness out of it. Equally delightful is a madrigal—"Your Tender Kisses"—on the other side, the latter song to full orchestra, the former to be harp alone.

New tenors are always a source of interest and Miguel Fleta, who makes his first record this week, is also a newcomer at the Metropolitan. He is a Spaniard fromragon, with a great success in Europe and South America to his credit. It is interesting and pleasant to hear his version of "La donna è mobile" from Rigoletto, and the tender "A te, cara" (To Thee, O Dearest) from Furiant.

New Record of Old Overture

We enjoyed the Light Cavalry Overture so much as put on a record by Victor Symphony Orchestra that we were prepared to listen to the new record this capable group offers this week. We are not disappointed, particularly as they depart from conventional highways and set down the Overture to Rossini's jolly old opera, Italian in Algiers, 108 years after its first performance. The marital troubles of the rotund Bey of Algiers undoubtedly were no comedy to him, but as set to music the situation is full of mischief and mirth to us.

Charming of its kind (it is our kind) is a Southern mammy record this week by Vernon Dalhart, "Mammy's Little Silver Lining." Naturally the lining is a little woolly pate and rolling eye. To keep it company Peerless Quartet sings "Memories of Virginia," which is just that.

Waxed Floor Items

New on the Victor list is Garber-Davis Orchestra, fresh from a tour of the South. "Oh Gee, O Gosh, O Golly, I'm in Love," its first trot record, is as effervescent as the occasion that prompts it. "First, Last and Always" is almost good enough to monopolize the encores for awhile.

Paul Whiteman takes you on a see-America-first tour in a new record this week by Victor. "Orange Grove in California." It has some unexpected flute-work toward the close. "Dancing Honeycomb" on the other side has some unusually expected unexpected Whiteman effects, some four-hand piano brilliancies.

Like a regular blue Monday is this week's edition by the Original Memphis Five. "I've Got a Song for Sale" is jazz blues re-distilled, with a regular Calamity Jane of a clarinet to start the screaming. "Tin Roof Blues" has some cornicewer effects.

URGES BANK ADS IN NEWSPAPERS

Banker Tells National Association They Are Essential. Aids to Business Building.

PRESENTS PRACTICAL PLAN

Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association Offers Prepared Newspaper Advertising Service to Cover a Year's Campaign.

More newspaper advertising by banks as a business builder was strongly urged at the recent convention of the American Bankers Association by W. R. Morehouse of the organization's Savings Bank Division. He backed up his plea with definite action to stimulate advertising by savings banks by selling the attention of the members to a prepared newspaper advertising service developed by his division comprising copy to meet their requirements for a year's advertising schedule.

"It is my firm conviction that banks can use newspaper advertising with great success," Mr. Morehouse said. "Newspapers go into the homes—by their use as a medium the people of a whole community may be reached in a single day. Because a bank cannot directly trace a large volume of new business to newspaper advertising does not prove that the medium is ineffective as a business-builder."

"The fact that there are certain kinds of newspaper advertising which do not produce good results ought not to brand the medium as ineffective any more than the fact that because a certain booklet or certain business-building letter fails to pull would warrant you in branding all booklets and all letters as non-productive mediums."

How to Advertise

"Newspaper advertising must be attractive and easily read if it is to produce good results. If the subject presented is not to the point, is too deeply involved for the average mind to grasp readily, is too full of big and uncommon words, it is only natural that it will not be read. If bank advertising is to accomplish its purpose it must be very simple."

"Discuss only the subjects which will make it easy for the public to patronize your bank. Advertise your bank's financial stability, its officers, directors and stockholders, and you will build prestige and strengthen public confidence in your institution. Enumerate the various kinds of service your bank is prepared to render. It has been to dress up and not be injured by them."

This diminutive comedienne, now a star in the "Greenwich Village Follies," is an Australian by birth, and has spent much of her time in England. But since her first visit to America, years ago, she has been a patron of American shoe dealers.

Miss Pollard believes shoes emphasize the costume just as hats do. "If I had my choice between a new frock

my experience that the public is on the lookout for information about banks, banking methods and the kinds of service rendered by banks. For quick results I am a firm believer in sticking to subjects which have a direct bearing on banks, banking methods and service, until the public has become better informed about banks and the wide variety of services rendered by them."

HOW TO CATCH FAKE STOCK SALESMEN

Some state bankers' associations are distributing an investor's questionnaire with the idea of protecting purchasers of securities from fake stock salesmen.

"Whenever you are solicited to purchase stock or other securities, use this questionnaire before investing any of your funds," says one of these. "The questionnaire was designed to protect the small investor and to emphasize the necessity of investigating thoroughly every investment proposition before placing any money therein."

When you have been furnished with the information called for in this questionnaire, take it to any one of the banking institutions in your community and get its opinion of the stock offered. If the stock salesman refuses to fill out this questionnaire, have nothing more to do with his proposition, as it is evident that he is fostering a fraudulent promotion.

The questionnaire pins the salesman down to answering the following questions:

Name of salesman.....
Kind of stock offered.....
Total issue of stock.....
Stock given for property.....
Stock given for good-will.....
Are you taking any Liberty Bonds.....
If so, at what price.....
Amount of cash needed.....
Par value of stock.....
Market price of stock.....
Has the stock a ready market.....
If so, where is it listed?.....
If so, what banks have accepted it.....
What are the present net earnings.....
Names of officers.....
Former occupation.....

"I love old clothes, and prefer to wear them, except shoes. Unless my feet have the best money can buy I never feel well dressed. I believe most women feel this innate vanity about their feet, and that is why they buy models too small and bring on corns, bunions and the rest of the ills the feet are heir to."

"Small shoes," she concluded, "never disguise a large foot, but well-fitted, perfectly proportioned ones bring out the best in any foot and give the final touch to an outfit."

Many Brilliant Costumes Appear At Carnival Ball

A carnival scene encircled with streamers of black and gold and lighted jack o'lanterns greeted the crowd of dancers as they arrived to attend the hallowe'en masque ball given by members of the Masonic and Eastern Star organizations, at the Masonic Temple last evening. About 30 couples appeared in costume and mask at the opening, while 66 couples were present before the conclusion of the festivities. Among the gay dancers were Fatima, a number of clowns, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, Dutch boys and girls, a Spanish bull fighter, foreigners of various varieties although representatives of Turkey appeared to be the most numerous, and archbishops. Costly gowns of brilliant colors, and splendid masks kept the dancers keyed up to a high pitch of enthusiasm during the entire evening.

Mrs. R. J. Kamplin as "Fatima" was voted the most charmingly costumed of the ladies while Dr. J. K. Blunt, a clown from top to toe, was given first place as the best costumed man.

Miss May Wilson and M. D. Avery, as Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, were voted the comic prize winning couple. Miss Bertha R. Palmer and Richard Hall appeared in costumes similar to the comic prize winners. Misses Mary Ramsdale and Laura Lerum appeared as charming maids of 1776. Miss Esther Stacy and Miss Esther Taylor as a pair of archbishops. Mrs. Howard Light in a Turkish costume. Mrs. Fred Grady as a Dutch boy. Miss Alberta Cairney as a dancing fairy and John Hassell as a cowboy. Ralph Jewell as a fierce Spanish bull fighter. Mrs. J. B. Hollenbeck as a goblin. Mrs. Arthur Guasmer, as Pierrette costume, and many others in equally picturesque costumes.

To give interest to the music Harry Wagner and his orchestra members lead the dancers in singing when particularly popular numbers were struck up, as Barry Goog and Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheen.

Refreshments were served during the evening in the dining hall which had been transformed into a scene of beauty with the use of gorgeous chandeliers, chandeliers and tables lighted only by the soft glow of many golden candles.

Mrs. Dunn Celebrates Birthday Anniversary And Arrival in City

A birthday surprise was given Mrs. John Platt Dunn by a group of her pioneer friends and neighbors yesterday afternoon. The occasion in addition to being her 68th birthday was the 50th anniversary of her arrival in Bismarck.

A pleasant feature of the surprise was the beautiful birthday cake sent to Mrs. Dunn from Seattle, Wash., by relatives of the Northern Pacific railroad as a token of affection and in recognition of the fact that she was one of the two Dakota women still residing here who met the first Northern Pacific train arriving in the city and again met the Northern Pacific passenger train that came in on the 40th anniversary, June 7, 1923.

The sixteen ladies participating in the delightful surprise included the following: Mrs. Florence J. Ward, 1873; Mary L. McLean, 1874; Susan A. Whalen, 1877; Hattie E. Faunce, 1877; Lucinda Logan, 1877; Belle Wall, 1878; Mollie Epfinger, 1878; Josephine R. Wake-man, 1878; Emma B. Foster, 1878; Georgeanna E. Foster, 1878; Priess Barnes, 1883; Ella C. Smyth, 1886; Mary H. Stevens, Minnewauken, 1894; Effie H. Lehr, 1908; Carrie Hansen, 1904, and Fannie Dunn Quinn, 1874.

Many of the ladies above named who left their names and the date of their arrival in Mrs. Dunn's autograph book have spent from 40 to fifty years in Bismarck.

After a social afternoon in which many years of remembrance were presented to Mrs. Dunn by her friends of the city a 5 o'clock birthday luncheon was served. The birthday cake sent by the Northern Pacific, a beautiful white and pink frosted affair bearing 16 candles and the inscription in green candies: "Birthday greetings to Mrs. J. P. Dunn, 1855-Nov. 3, 1923," occupied a place of honor on the table which was ornamented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Whalen had charge of the luncheon arrangements.

Survey Shows Fall Hat Fashions Fully Established

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

With crisp October winds breezing down from the North and a promise of bluster and snow in the air, the streets and highways of this broad land change color as surely as do the leaves on the trees. The transition from the light and airy colors of summer to the richer and deeper colors of fall is about complete, so far as the costumes and headwear of women are concerned, and a survey of the fashionable avenues or the smart shops will show that fall fashions are very definitely established.

The fashionable hat, then, is velvet, tatters plush or felt. It is sand, brown and kindred colors; or it is black, blue or green, to give the colors in their relative importance. The shape may be anything from the close-fitting turban to wide-brimmed cape lines and trimmings, and may either droop or turn off the face. The trimmings may be feather-fancies, ribbons, lace, brocade, embroidery, jewels, lilies or flowers. All these are used at the discretion of the designer, and all are equally fashionable. Flower trimmings are of course different than those used on summer hats, as they are often made of metallic fabric or are combined with some fall material such as metalic braid or fur. Of the metallic colors, silver appears to be the most popular.

In the group of hats pictured here there are four distinct variations of the mode. The large hat at the top is of black hatters' plush with a plume of marocain. A band of jewels and a drop of lace complete the trimming of a charming dress model. Flowers, furs, lace and brocade find places on the hats shown below. The fur-trimmed hat is worth particular attention, as it shows the use of large colored glass jewels in two very new ornaments.

Many Brilliant Costumes Appear At Carnival Ball

A carnival scene encircled with streamers of black and gold and lighted jack o'lanterns greeted the crowd of dancers as they arrived to attend the hallowe'en masque ball given by members of the Masonic and Eastern Star organizations, at the Masonic Temple last evening.

About 30 couples appeared in costume and mask at the opening while 66 couples were present before the conclusion of the festivities. Among the gay dancers were Fatima, a number of clowns, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, Dutch boys and girls, a Spanish bull fighter, foreigners of various varieties although representatives of Turkey appeared to be the most numerous, and goblins. Confetti, streamers of brilliant colors, and splendid music kept the dancers keyed up to a high pitch of enthusiasm during the entire evening.

Mrs. R. J. Kamplin as "Fatima" was voted the most charmingly costumed of the ladies while Dr. J. K. Blunt, a clown from top to toe, was given first place as the best costumed man at the ball. Miss May Walker and M. D. Avery, as Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, were voted the comic prize winning couple. Miss Bertha R. Palmer and Richard Hall appeared in costumes similar to the comic prize winners. Misses Mary Tamsdale and Laura Lerum appeared as charming maids of 1776. Miss Esther Soley and Miss Esther Taylor as Turkish maids. Mrs. Howard Light, in a Turkish costume, Mrs. Fred Grady as a Dutch boy, Miss Alberta Carney as a dancing fairy and John Hassell as a cowboy. Ralph Jewell as a fierce Spanish bull fighter; Mrs. J. B. Hollenbeck as a goblin; Mrs. Arthur Gussner, as Pierrette costume, and many others in equally picturesque costumes.

To give diversity to the music Harry Wagner and his orchestra members lead the dancers in singing when particularly popular numbers were struck up, as Barney Google and Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Sheen.

Refreshments were served during the evening in the dining hall which has been transformed into a scene of beauty with the use of gorgeous bouquets of chrysanthemums and tables lighted only by the soft glow of many golden candles.

Mrs. Dunn Celebrates Birthday Anniversary And Arrival in City

A birthday surprise was given Mrs. John Platt Dunn by a group of her pioneer friends and neighbors yesterday afternoon. The occasion in addition to being her 68th birthday was the 50th anniversary of her arrival in Bismarck.

A pleasant feature of the surprise was the beautiful birthday cake sent to Mrs. Dunn from Seattle, Wash., by one of the Northern Pacific railroad as a token of esteem and a reminder of the two Bismarck women still residing here who met the first trans-Pacific train arriving in Bismarck and again met the Northern Pacific passenger train that came in on its fiftieth anniversary, June 7, 1923.

The sixteen ladies participating in the delightful surprise included the following: Mrs. Florence J. Wadsworth; Mrs. L. M. Lean; 1874; Susan B. Whalen; 1877; Hattie B. Faunce; 1877; Lucinda Logan; 1877; Belle Will; 1878; Mollie Eppinger; 1878; Josephine R. Wake-man; 1878; Emma B. Falconer; 1878; Georgiana Taylor; 1881; Annie Price Barnes; 1883; Ella C. Smith; 1886; Mary H. Stevens; Minnawauken; 1894; Effie H. Lahr; 1909; Carrie Haugen; 1904, and Fannie Dunn Quain; 1874.

Many of the ladies above named who left their names and the date of their arrival in Mrs. Dunn's autograph book have spent from 40 to fifty years in Bismarck.

After a social afternoon in which many gifts of remembrance were presented to Mrs. Dunn by her friends of the city a 5 o'clock birthday luncheon was served. The birthday cake sent by the Northern Pacific, a beautiful white and pink frosted affair, bearing 16 candles and the inscription in green candies: "Birthday greetings to Mrs. J. P. Dunn, 1855—Nov. 2, 1923," occupied a place of honor in the center of the dining room table which was ornamented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mrs. Whalen had charge of the luncheon arrangements.

Survey Shows Fall Hat Fashions Fully Established

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

With crisp October winds breezing down from the North and a promise of bluster and snow in the air, the streets and highways of this broad land change color as surely as do the leaves on the trees. The transition from the light and airy colors of summer to the richer and deeper colors of fall is about complete, so far as the costumes and headwear of women are concerned, and a survey of the fashionable avenues or the smart shops will show that fall fashions are very definitely established.

The fashionable hat, then, is velvet, haters' plush or felt. It is sand, brown and kindred colors, or it is black, blue or green, to give the colors in their relative importance. The shape may be anything from the close-fitting turban to wide-brimmed cape lines and tricornes, and may either droop or turn up the face. The trimmings may be feather fancies, ribbon, lace, brocade, embroidery, jewels, baits or flowers. All these are used at the discretion of the designer, and all are equally fashionable. Flower trimmings are of course different than those used on summer hats, as they are often made of metallic fabric or are combined with some fall material such as metallic braid or fur. Of the metallic colors, silver appears to be the most popular.

In the group of hats pictured here there are four distinct variations of the mode. The large hat at the top is of black haters' plush with a plume of narrow ostrich. A band of jewels and a drape of lace complete the trimming of a charming dress model. Flowers, furs, lace and brocade find places on the hats shown below. The fur-trimmed hat is worth particular attention, as it shows the use of large colored glass jewels in two very new ornaments.

DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL
Mr. Lloyd George is perhaps the most welcome foreign visitor the United States has had since the war. He came with a smile, he tactfully has made his way, driven home his convictions without seeming to be speaking to the American people as from a pulpit, and he will have left some very grave questions for Americans to consider.
In Philadelphia, Mr. Lloyd George reiterated warnings made in a previous speech that Democracy is on trial throughout the civilized world. The after-the-war development has been not a step forward in democratizing the world, but a reversion to dictatorships and monarchies. The war did save for the world the only three great Democracies left—United States, France and Great Britain. Mr. Lloyd George placed the problem before the American people in this language:
"Democracy is in greater peril at this hour than it has probably ever been. Immediately after the war there was a strong current running in its favor through all lands. Empires and kingdoms fell, autocracies were swept away, new democracies sprang up from the soil of Europe everywhere. In a few years a reaction has set in, and four great countries that had started on the road of democratic government have for the moment abandoned it and set up dictatorships—Russia, Italy, Spain, and, for the moment, Germany.
"Beyond that there is an undercurrent of hostility to democracy and democratic institutions. You can hear it everywhere—in the little-tattle of the boudoirs and the growls of the clubs and democracy for the moment is in great jeopardy. It is in jeopardy after its greatest trial.
"I wonder how many realize that the last war, which was the greatest struggle ever waged in the history of mankind, was largely a struggle between democracies and autocracies. You had the military autocracy of Germany, of Austria, of Turkey; and even Bulgaria set up a military autocracy. You had ranged on the other side the democracy of France, the democracy of Britain, the democracy of this great Republic. We had one autocracy on our side, Russia, which was with us the first two years of the war."
The former British premier pointed to the forebodings on the allied side because democracies were ranged against autocracies in the war. Centralized government in autocracies appeared to give them a great advantage. It was an advantage at the outset. But it is the spirit of a democratic government that wins a long war.
The United States, as did all allied countries, vested almost dictatorial powers in some civil officials during the war, and government bureaus grew more powerful than ever before. The late President Harding rendered a great service to the country in his sane demobilization of the great, centralized governmental war system.
There are ever-watchful forces in the nation now guarding it from the attempts to undermine the American representative form of government, to prevent another Russian dictatorship, to preserve the fundamental principles of the nation. Oftentimes such enthusiasts are chided and charged with flaunting fanciful dangers. But there is in the clear statement of fact by Mr. Lloyd George a danger signal that should not be ignored in the United States.

YOUR OWN BOSS
The Armour meat packing company tells its 60,000 employees they can become silent partners in the business by buying preferred stock. This stock will be sold to employees on the installment plan. It will pay guaranteed dividends of 7 per cent.
Only a few years since the Armour firm was practically "a closed corporation." That is to say, the Armour family owned most of it and controlled all of it.
Observe a straw showing which way the wind's blowing.

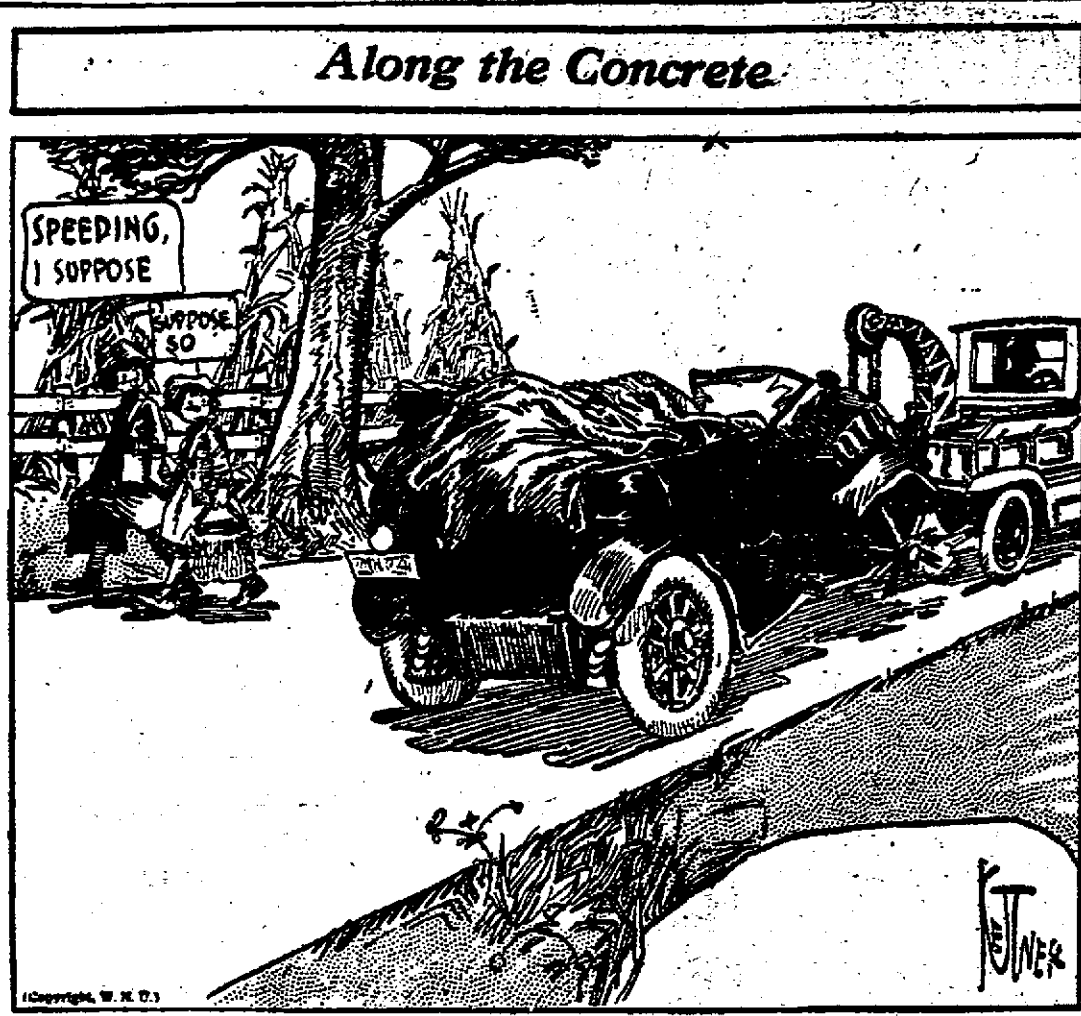

There's really nothing unusual about the Armour method of letting employees buy an interest in the business. Many businesses already have the same system in operation.
It's the ideal way to save. The method usually is for the employee to subscribe to pay so much a week, then that amount is regularly taken from his pay envelope.
The employee with stock in the business is more loyal and works harder. That's the theory, at any rate and it averages true. So it's a definite part of the "efficiency" movement.

You never can tell where such a thing, once started, will lead. Take a business employing 100,000 men. If each of them invested $1000, there's a fund of 100 million dollars. Quite a fund, that.

Will the day come when employees, by their savings, will buy a controlling interest, then gradually take over the businesses that employ them? An interesting prospect, decidedly a possibility.

MAY STANDARDIZE HUMANITY
A race of people six feet tall, none taller, none shorter, could be produced by proper medical treatment of the endocrine glands—especially the thyroid gland in the neck. This is one of the odd views expressed at the clinical congress of American College of Surgeons.
It should especially interest the Japanese.
And if the rest of us don't keep an eye open, the efficiency experts may decide to standardize humanity. The job is well started—in the matter of standardized clothing, food, routine, amusement and thought.

CRUELTY OF NATURE
You've seen animals, packed together in freight cars, being rushed to market—squealing, snorting, bellowing in fright. Nearly 13,000 a year died during shipment and over 10,000 are crippled, according to President Stillman of American Humane Association.
This probably is only a small fraction of the animals that arrive safely at the butcher's. But it starts one thinking about the terrible cruelty of nature, in which life cannot exist except by destroying other life.

CABLEGRAM FROM ALICE HAMILTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT
(Cable delayed. Just received).
Be careful. Don't go off halfcocked. Sit tight and say nothing. Love, ALICE.
Letter From Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott to Priscilla Bradford
MY DEAR PRISCILLA:
You cannot tell how lonely I have been since you left me for New York. It is not good for an old woman like me to live alone and I am delighted to know that when you return you are going to bring whatever part of your goods and chattels you may desire and come over to my house or rather your house—and live with me until the book is closed. Today I made my will, my dear, and left you all my small possessions.
It is a sad thing, dear Priscilla, to realize after you have borne a child and brought him up as nearly God-fearing as you could, that he would cast off his mother in her old age. Although it grieves me to the heart to know this, my grief is not nearly as good as my fear—for for him—for we know that just so surely as a child casts off his father or mother, just so surely will he be cast off by his child. This of course is more sure in the case of John, because he has taken into his heart and home a nameless child who will surely disappoint, if not dishonor, him.
I am quite sure you are mistaken, dear Priscilla, about seeing Leslie on the street in New York. I have learned in a roundabout way that her father is very ill and if she had left her home for any place it would be to go to him. I would write to her or to John and say that you thought you had seen her, but I solemnly vowed to myself that I would never again write to my son until he has written to me and in some way apologize, if not ask my forgiveness, for the letters he has sent me.
I do not want to shorten your stay at all in New York City, but I shall be very lonely until you return to your devoted friend,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Night Letter From Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton to Leslie Prescott
Your father has been improving steadily since we got him up here in the mountains. He is asking for you every day. Why don't you bring little Jack and come up and see him? He talks continually of his grandchild. Come up, dear, as soon as you can.

Night Letter From Leslie Prescott to Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton
Unless father needs me very much I would rather wait until later. Little Jack has been quite ill, but is better now. I did not write to you because I thought you had worried enough without my trouble. Do you hear anything from Alice? Love, LESLIE.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton
"Too wit, too wit, too wit, sweet, Sugar came his good and sweet, sang a little bird blithely.
Nancy and Nick peeped through the cane-bushes to see who was singing and saw a little gray and white bird sitting on top of one of them, singing as though his throat would burst.
"My, but you have a nice voice!" said Nancy. "What's your name, little bird?"
"My name is Merry-Bill Mocking Bird," answered the little bird, not a bit frightened at seeing a little boy and girl so close to him.
"And where do you live?" asked Nick.
"Oh, most anywhere at all," answered Merry-Bill Mocking Bird. "I was born in my mother's nest, snugly hidden in some Spanish moss in an old oak-tree near a house in Dixie Land. I stayed at home until I was educated and since then I've lived most any place at all."
"Were you educated?" asked Nancy.
"Singing and singing and a few manners," said the little bird. "Although I am afraid I didn't learn any too many manners because I love to tease people so. Besides I can imitate any sound I have ever heard. That's where I get my name. I can mock anything from a cat to a sawmill."
"I know a bird that can do that!" said Nick. "He's called Casper Cat-Bird."
"Well I declare!" said Merry-Bill. "Isn't that interesting, though! Casper Cat-Birds my cousin and he learned a lot from me. He can do almost anything that I can do."
"Say, Mister Mocking Bird," said Nancy, "can you go like a robin?"
"Can't I, though! Just listen!"
Chirree, chirree, red and sweet, red and sweet,
Good to eat, eat, eat, eat!
"That's fine!" cried the Twins, clapping their hands with delight.
"Can you go like a crow?" asked Nick eager for more.
"Can't I just! Listen!" said Mister Mocking Bird, and he went, "Caw caw caw!" exactly like Chris. Crow out in the corn-field.
After that he gave a regular concert, imitating every bird he knew from a wren to a pull-parrot.
"That's grand!" said Nancy. "I think mocking birds must be the sweetest birds there are in the world. Is there anything we can do for you?"
"I think not, thank you," answered Merry-Bill happily. "Except to come and see me again sometime. Good-by!"
"Goodby!" said the Twins, as he flew away.

WEAR HIGH SHOES FOR PERFECTION

Low Cuts Cause Big Ankles and Back Ache, Says Possessor of Perfect Foot
BY MARIAN HALE.
New York, Nov. 3.—The first aid to the perfect foot is the high lace shoe, according to the petite Daphne Follard, whose feet have taken prizes in England and Australia, and now in America.
Prepare for a shock when I tell you the size. She actually keeps these perfect Trilbys in a size 13—girl's size!
But then she is only four feet eight inches tall—or I should say, short—and 95 is the highest number she's ever been able to raise on the scales. "But in their small way, her feet are declared perfect."
And she attributes their perfection to the high boot most of us have discarded.
"Nothing like it," she declares, "to keep the ankle slim and give the arches support. No, I know they aren't fashionable, but they should be. Low pumps worn constantly bring the larger ankle in time, that's certain."
"I haven't always been as particular about my feet as I am now," she goes on. "For a while I was enslaved by the high-heeled pump and wore it constantly. Then I noticed backaches and heart issues. So I switched to low heels and exaggeratedly 'sensible' flats and while my feet were perfectly comfortable I never looked very smart myself."
Purpose for Each.
"Now I can't do the daily shoe program. I wear high boots when I have much walking to do—and I take many hikes. For golf I wear low, flat shoes that give my toes a chance to spread out and exercise as they should. And I dance every day in my high lace shoes."
This way I keep my feet plenty of exercise and keep them healthy so I can wear high heels when I want to dress up and not be injured by them."
This diminutive comedienne, now a star in the "Greenwich Village Follies," is an Australian by birth, and has spent much of her time in England. But since her first visit to America, years ago, she has been a patron of American shoe dealers.
"No matter what country I live in, I have all my shoes made here," she confides. "English shoes are ugly and Parisian models too stumpy. But American lasts are just right. No wonder everyone marvels at the American women's feet!"
Miss Follard believes shoes emphasize the costume just as hats do. "If I had my choice between a new frock

Farrar Sings Two Concert Songs—First Records by New Spanish Tenor
Geraldine Farrar, in a manner of speaking, takes up her melodies again this week and, in the words of the surly Thane of Cawdor, "brings up her ravell'd sleeve of song" with two "concert" melodies that chase the belated most "concert" melody, "La Serenata," in one of the most delicately happy little melodies we have, and Miss Farrar sings all the sweetness out of it. Equally delightful is a madrigal, "Your Tender Kisses," on the other side, the latter song to full orchestra, the former to be sung alone.
New tenors are always a source of interest and Miguel Flota, who makes his first record this week, is also a newcomer at the Metropolitan this season. He is a Spaniard from Mexico, with a great success in Europe and South America. His credit, he is interesting and pleasant to hear his version of "La donna e mobile" from Bizet's opera, and the tender "A te, cara," from "O Zoraida" from Puritani.

my experience that the public is on the lookout for information about banks, banking methods and the kinds of service offered by banks. For quick results I am a firm believer in sticking to subjects which have a direct bearing on banks, banking methods and service, until the public has been better informed about banks and the wide variety of services rendered by them.
A New Plan
"If you have not been successful with newspaper advertising, try this plan. Confine your advertising within the scope of banking and especially enumerate the various services which your bank is prepared to offer. Set down every advertisement to one hundred words or less, preferably less. Use headings which arouse interest at a glance. For example, a head 'INTEREST FROM DATE' will inspire action on the part of persons with idle funds to deposit because interest starts from the time savings accounts are opened. A heading 'PROTECTION FOR YOUR VALUABLES' will inspire action on the part of persons in need of protection."
HOW TO CATCH FAKE STOCK SALESMEN
Some state bankers' associations are distributing an inventor's questionnaire with the idea of protecting purchasers of securities from fake stock salesmen.
"Whenever you are solicited to purchase stock or other securities, use this questionnaire before investing any of your funds," says one of these. "The questionnaire is one compiled to protect the small investor and to emphasize the necessity of investigating thoroughly every investment proposition before placing any money therein. When you have been furnished with the information called for in this questionnaire, take it to any one of the banking institutions in your community and get its opinion of the stock offered. If the stock-salesman refuses to fill out this questionnaire, have nothing more to do with his proposition, as it is evident that he is fostering a fraudulent promotion. The questionnaire plus the salesman down to answering the following questions:
Date
Name of company
Name of salesman
Kind of stock offered
Total issue of stock
Stock given for property
Stock given for good-will
If so, at what price?
Amount of cash needed
Value of stock
Market price of stock
Is the stock accepted by banks as collateral?
If so, what banks have accepted it?
What are the present and future prospects?
Name of officers
Former occupation
and a new pair of shoes," she said, "I would always take the shoes, no matter how low I happened to be on brooks—and believe me, I get low."
"I love old clothes, and prefer to wear them, except shoes. Unless my feet have the best money can buy I never feel well dressed. I believe most women feel this innate vanity about their feet, and that is why they buy models too small and bring on corns, bunions and the rest of the ills the feet are heir to."
"Small shoes," she concluded, "never disguise a large foot, but well-fitting perfectly proportioned ones bring out the best in any foot and give the final touch to an outfit."

URGES BANK ADS IN NEWSPAPERS

Banker Tells National Association They Are Essential Aids to Business Building
PRESENTS PRACTICAL PLAN
Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association Offers Prepared Newspaper Advertising Service to Cover a Year's Campaign.
More newspaper advertising by banks as a business builder was strongly urged at the recent convention of the American Bankers Association by W. R. Morehouse, of the organization's Savings Bank Division. He backed up his plea with definite action to stimulate advertising by savings banks by selling the attention of the members to a prepared newspaper advertising service compiled by his division comprising copy to meet the requirements for a year's advertising schedule.
"It is my firm conviction that banks can use newspaper advertising with great success," Mr. Morehouse said. "Newspapers go into the homes—by their use as a medium the people of a whole community may be reached in a single day. Because a bank cannot directly trace a large volume of new business to newspaper advertising does not prove that the medium is ineffective as a business builder."
"The fact that there are certain kinds of newspaper advertising which do not produce good results ought not to brand the medium as ineffective any more than the fact that because a certain booklet or certain business-building letter fails to pull would warrant you in branding all booklets and all letters as non-productive mediums."
How to Advertise
"Newspaper advertising must be attractive and easily read if it is to produce good results. If the subject presented is not to the point, is too deeply involved for the average mind to grasp readily, is too full of big and uncommon words, it is only natural that it will not be read. If bank advertising is to accomplish its purpose it must be very simple."
"Discuss only the subjects which will make it easy for the public to patronize your bank. Advertise your bank's financial stability, its officers, directors and stockholders, and you will build confidence in your institution. Enumerate the various kinds of service your bank is prepared to render. It has been

ZEV, MY OWN
MEET TODAY
IN BIG RACE

Conquerer of Papyrus Has Chance to Become Greatest Money Winning Horse

MET AT LATONIA

(By the Associated Press.)
Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—Zev, winner of the Kentucky derby and conqueror of Papyrus, champion of England, races for the second time in Kentucky, the state of his birth today with a prospect of emerging as the world's greatest money winning race horse of all time.

The strapping brown colt, owned by Harry F. Sinclair of New York, millionaire oil operator, goes to the post with his most formidable American rival, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own in the Latonia championship stakes worth $50,000 to the victor. Zev, if returned the victor, will become the greatest money winning horse in history, overcoming Isinglass of England, and Ksar of France, and all other winners of great sums on the race courses of the world.

Zev to date has won a total of $265,073, more than $15,000 greater than Man o'War's winnings, which previously held the American money winning record.

The races at the grueling test of a mile and three quarters attracted three other starters in addition to Zev and My Own, none of which, in the opinion of experts, has a chance to measure with them. Other entrants are Rialto, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney of New York; In Memoriam, the property of Carl Weidmann of New York, Ky., and Taylor Hay, whose owner is C. W. Hay, one of the presiding stewards at the Latonia meeting, whose turf establishment is at Frankfort, Ky. Earl Sand, who rode the Ronceas colt to victory in the Kentucky victory and against Papyrus, will be in the saddle on Zev this afternoon while Earl Poole will ride My Own.

RENAULT BEATS
FLOYD JOHNSON

Secures Technical Knockout
in the 15th Round

New York, Nov. 3.—Jack Renault, rugged Canadian heavyweight, battled Floyd Johnson, Iowa battler, into defeat last night in the fifteenth and last round of a furious, spectacular fight in Madison Square Garden.

Renault scored a technical knockout when Johnson's second tossed a towel into the ring after the Iowa had gone down twice in the final round under the Canadian's battering attack. But Johnson, the helpless and bleeding from gashes about the head, was on his feet when the end came, staggering back by instinct to the fray he had lost only after one of the most courageous ring exhibitions ever witnessed in the historic Garden arena.

The finish came with but 31 seconds of the final round left and after Johnson, by sheer grit, had managed to weather a terrific bombardment for the last seven rounds. The young Iowa was on the verge of a knockout in both the ninth and tenth rounds, groggy under Renault's cool, merciless attack, but just when it seemed he was about to go down, he rallied spectacularly and actually fought Renault off his feet with determined, if futile, rushes, in the 11th, 12th and 13th round.

Renault, jarred but apparently unhurt by the fury of his rival's blows, kept a steady stream of blood flowing from deep gashes under John-

The Canadian unleashed a slashing drive in the 14th, sending Johnson about the ring under a fusillade of ripping hooks and uppercuts to the head and body. Somehow Johnson managed to weather the storm and in the 15th round he tried game to rally, but his punches bounded off Renault harmlessly and he soon was helpless under another withering attack. Only the instinct of a fighting heart kept Johnson on his feet, under the bombardment.

Take Wilton High Team Into
Camp in Game Played
There

Bismarck High School's second team played the Wilton high team at Wilton Friday afternoon and returned victor by a score of 26 to 0. Four touchdowns, one in the first, one in the third and two in the fourth accounted for the scores, with two goals kicked in the last quarter.

The locals played mostly straight football. The Wilton team was playing its third game, football being a new sport for the high school. Filin, center, was the outstanding star of the Wilton team.

Coach Heuser of the Bismarck team, who took the locals to Wilton, praised the fighting qualities of the Wilton team and declared there was the making of a good team there. Football is being taken up for the first time this year in a number of high schools north of here, and the local athletic authorities hope to see the game developed there.

EAGLES BEING SLAUGHTERED
RUTHLESSLY

Observers See Extinction of Bird Which Is Symbol of Liberty

By Harry B. Hunt
NEA Service Writer
Washington, Nov. 3.—The American eagle, symbol of liberty, freedom, independence, is threatened with extinction.

If present inroads on these birds are permitted to continue, the only place where future generations may find them, according to the American Nature Association, will be on the great American dollar.

And—strange paradox—it will be the dollar that will have been responsible for the eagle's disappearance.

Wholesale Slaughter
For up in Alaska, which is the last foothold where American eagles are now to be found in any numbers on American soil, these birds of freedom are being slaughtered by the thousands for a territorial bounty of 50 cents each.

Under pressure by the salmon canning interests in Alaska, the territorial legislature passed a law offering half a dollar for each eagle killed. The law provides that the hunter can get his money by cutting both feet from the bird and producing them, together with an affidavit, before any Alaskan commissioner.

Since 1917, 36,000 eagle feet, cut from 18,000 birds, have been checked and accounted for on the bounty re-

When Is a Flapper
Not a Flapper?

MIRIAM HOPKINS

"I love you, I love you, is all that I can say—"

Miriam Hopkins Finds
That It's When She's In Love

Not even a flapper works at flapping all the time.

At least so says Miriam Hopkins, who earns her living by flapping six nights and two afternoons a week in "Little Jessie James," the Broadway musical comedy of the moment.

"Aren't old folks silly?" mused Miriam, dimpling into the smile that's already famous up and down the great white way. "Can't they see that flapperism is only skin deep—that is, clothes and manners deep—and that when anything really happens to a girl, like falling in love, she becomes as old-fashioned as her most colonial ancestor?"

"I Love You," that a super-modern flapper sings in "Little Jessie James," is the magic that sooner or later will transform any flapper into a stammering, blushing sample of prehistoric girlhood.

"And yet the silly old folks keep hiring psycho-analysts to explain their unfamiliar young to them!"

ords. But, says the Nature Magazine, broadcasting the warning of the association—

Blame Packers
"It seems safe to say that instead of 18,000, probably 25,000 American eagles have been killed since the campaign began. Some were wounded and not caught. Many have fallen into inaccessible places where they could not be reached. A large number have been shot for sport by people who have not collected the bounties."

The depredations of the eagle on the Alaskan salmon industry, these nature enthusiasts insist, has been largely over-stated by the packers who sponsored the bounty law. "At certain seasons of the year," they say, "fish in Alaska are abundant and the bald eagle undoubtedly lives largely on salmon. But it is a well-known fact that salmon die after spawning."

"The banks of streams are at times lined with the bodies of spawned-out fish. And it is these, in great part, that are carried away and eaten by these birds."

Ask Schools' Aid
An appeal to save the eagle, America's symbol of liberty, is to be broadcast in the hope of stirring public demand for the repeal of Alaska's bounty law. Bulletins will be sent school principals and classes will be asked to unite in protest against the destruction of America's national bird.

"The eagle stands firm before every earthly power except the hand of man," the association points out. "He is our symbol of courage, our emblem of freedom. Are American ideals in the future to be represented by a defunct species?"

"Grant that the eagles do diminish the salmon pack by a few cases each year. With the recorded slaughter of 18,000 eagles in five years Alaskans may be sure there are not enough left to affect their supply of fish and game."

"The eagle, symbol of liberty, must continue to live under the Stars and Stripes!"

Apple Pomace Equal
To Corn Fodder

Washington, Nov. 3.—Apple pomace, the residue of ground apples after the cider has been pressed out, can be profitably used as food for wintering cattle, the Department of Agriculture announces. Thousands of tons of this pomace is wasted each year. When moist pomace can be used fresh or ensiled it yields a cattle food comparable with corn silage. Its most profitable utilization depends upon its preservation by dehydration and producing it as a commercial food. Feeding trials with dairy cows proved dried-apple pomace to be equal pound for pound of dry matter to good corn silage. The material was fed wet and replaced the corn silage in a ration including grain and hay.

LARGE EAGLE SHOT.
Sheerwood, N. D., Nov. 3.—A bald eagle which was shot by Raipie Taute of Grover measured 6 feet 10 inches from the tip of one wing to the other. The bird is one of very few that are known to exist in this section.

Keep Out of
The Puddles

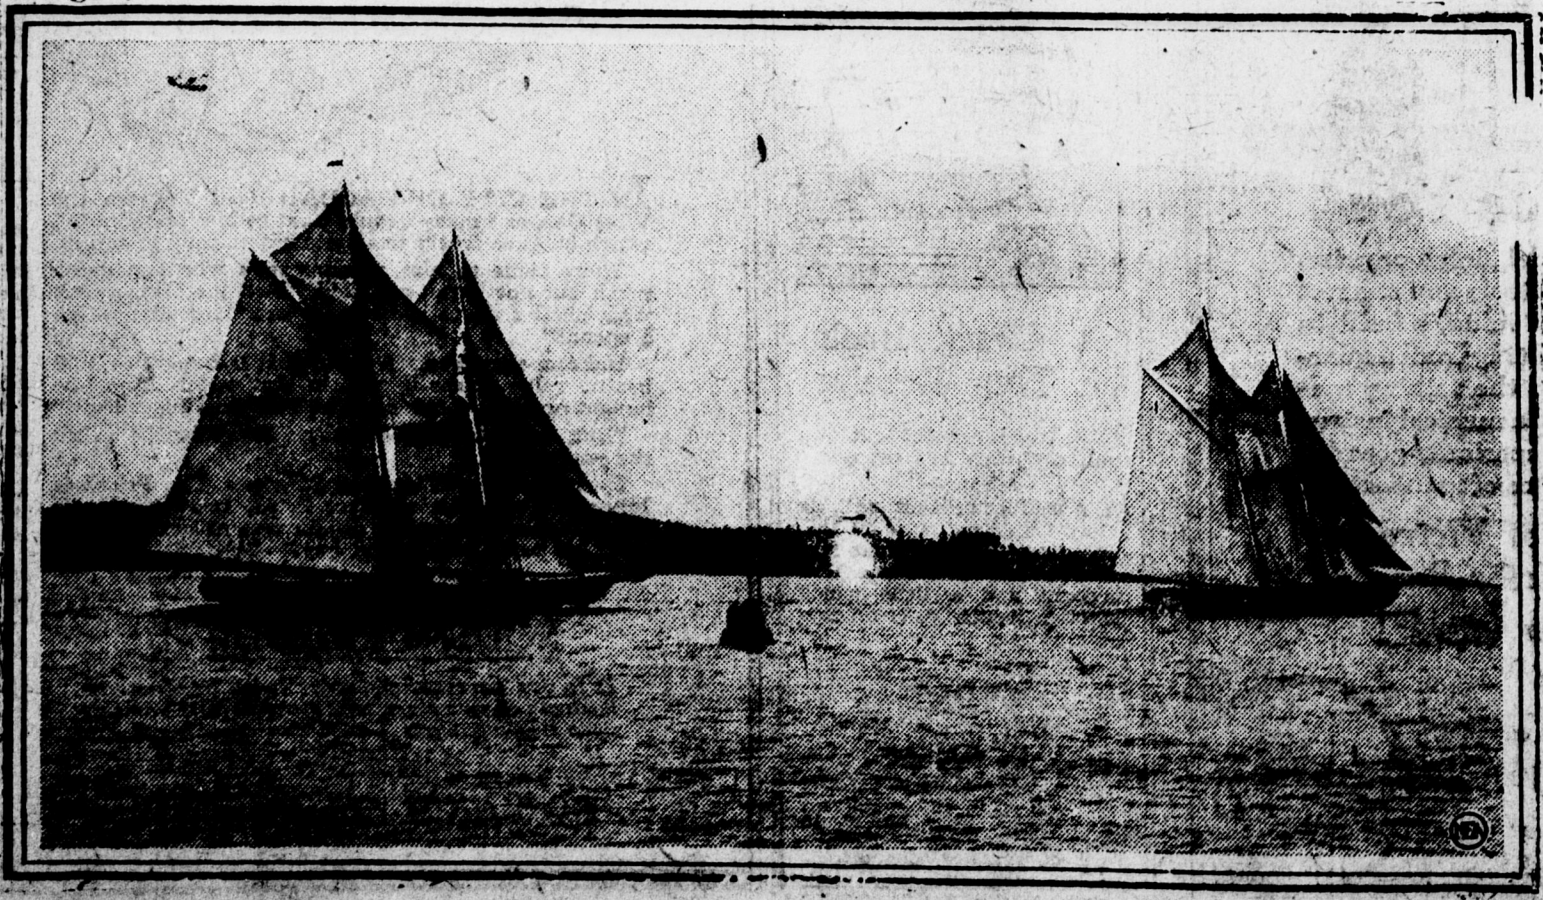

Courtly Sir Walter Raléigh—cynic, savant and first-class fighting man—desired a favor from good Queen Bess. A puddle in the queen's path made his opportunity. Across it he flung his costly cloak. Her majesty, smiling at his devotion, trod on, dry shod, and Sir Walter's unique self-advertising produced results.

Though most advertising is less spectacular today, it is far more serviceable. It smooths out the every-day pathways of each one of us.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once would have been worth a king's ransom are yours at little cost. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, manufacturer against manufacturer. This competition brings out the best there is in everything for your personal benefit.

You wouldn't know about many boons of modern life were it not for advertising. That is why you are not taking full advantage of the better things in life today if you consistently overlook the advertisements.

Into His Own Trap
By ANTHONY REIMERT

It was cleverly set—Jean's trap. It was a trap for a man, not for an animal. It was so skillfully concealed, too. The other man would never guess that Jean had put a trap right in the middle of the trail. He would step right into it, and it would have him fast by the leg, and Jean would come to see him, and how he would laugh! Jean would laugh and leave Pierre there. He had a twofold quarrel with Pierre. Pierre had stolen the love of Marie, the old trader's daughter, and he had robbed his traps. There was a blue fox skin Jean felt certain Pierre had taken. But that was nothing to Marie.

Pierre had no business to walk along that trail, for that was Jean's trap-line and anyone passing that way could only have come for plunder. And then Marie—she was always thinking of Pierre and Marie, Marie who pretended still to love him, when her heart was Pierre's. Yes, Jean would have a good deal of fun out of that trap.

He was on his way now to see it. Perhaps Pierre was already caught in it. Pierre had gone away to trap, as he said, but Jean knew that it was his own trap he must go to plunder. Jean would have reached the trap by now. Even so experienced a man as Pierre would undoubtedly walk into the trap.

Jean chuckled. Afterward, a long time afterward, he would tell Marie but not until she had grown tired of waiting; not until she had grown thin and pale. Then he would tell her: "I have a skeleton in my trap, the skeleton of a man whose bones the wolves have picked clean."

Then he would take Marie there, and afterward he would go away. Chukling over his scheme, Jean proceeded along the trail. Suddenly he stumbled. He felt a sharp pain in his leg. In another moment the ghastly truth was borne in upon his stupefied brain.

He had fallen into his own trap. He was held fast.

For a few minutes he struggled frantically, but the steel teeth only bit more securely into his leg, and at last he was forced to desist. He crouched, quaking with horror. He was twenty miles from his camp. Nobody would pass that way, for it was Jean's own trap-line—nobody unless Pierre.

Hours passed; hours of pitiful mental agony. Sometimes he would begin the frantic struggle anew. But always he desisted. He would not try to cut his leg off. Better to die. Better to let hunger or the wild beasts finish him. He passed the night in a stupor.

Dawn came, the round sun mounted the sky. Jean lay in the agony of approaching dissolution. There was no help now. Pierre would not come, and if he did...

A light footfall roused him from the coma into which he was sinking. He opened his eyes. Pierre stood over him. And Pierre was smiling. He understood, for why should Jean have placed a trap in the middle of the trail?

He grinned: "So, Jean, thou art caught in thine own trap."

"Help me and forgive," groaned Jean. "I have rich furs in my cabin, Pierre; set me free and they are all yours."

"And what about the girl, Marie?" demanded Pierre.

"Curse you, she is yours already," Jean groaned.

"But why should I set you free, my friend, when a woman who is fickle may turn to thee again?"

"I will go away. I will never see her again."

Pierre turned his back, whistling. Jean closed his eyes. This was the end.

Pierre turned back. He sprung the trap. Jean staggered to his feet, free. He stood staring at Pierre.

"I did not steal thy furs," said Pierre. "I came to see what luck thou hadst, because I did not wish thy marriage to Marie to be delayed."

"What?" Jean stared at him.

"She loves thee, and has always loved thee. Come, Jean, let me help thee back to thy cabin before thy wound gets poisonous."

"And I—set this trap for thee, Pierre," Jean groaned.

"My friend, a man in love does foolish things. I, for example, plan to give thee my winter's furs for a wedding present before I go away."

ZEV, MY OWN MEET TODAY IN BIG RACE

Conquerer of Papyrus Has Chance to Become Greatest Money Winning Horse

MET AT LATONIA

(By the Associated Press.) Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—Zev, winner of the Kentucky derby and conquerer of Papyrus, champion of England, races for the second time in Kentucky, the state of his birth today with a prospect of emerging as the world's greatest money winning race horse of all time.

The strapping brown colt, owned by Harry F. Sinclair of New York, millionaire oil operator, goes to the post with his most formidable American rival, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own in the Latonia championship stakes worth $50,000 to the victor. Zev, if returned the victor, will become the greatest money winning horse in history, overcoming Isinglass of England, and Ksar of France, and all other winners of great sums on the race courses of the world.

Zev to date has won a total of $255,073, more than $15,000 greater than Man o'War's winnings, which previously held the American money winning record.

The races at the gruelling test of a mile and three quarters attracted three other starters in addition to Zev and My Own, none of which, in the opinion of experts, has a chance to measure with them. Other entrants are Rialto, owned by Mrs. Fayne Whitney of New York; In Memoriam, the property of Carl Weidmann of New Port, Ky; and Taylor Hay, whose owner is C. W. Hay, one of the presiding stewards at the Latonia meeting, whose turf establishment is at Frankfort, Ky. Earl Sand, who rode the Roncoas colt to victory in the Kentucky victory and against Papyrus, will be in the saddle on Zev this afternoon while Earl Poole will ride My Own!

RENAULT BEATS FLOYD JOHNSON

Secures Technical Knockout in the 15th Round

New York, Nov. 3.—Jack Renault, rugged Canadian heavyweight, battling Floyd Johnson, Iowa battler, into defeat last night in the fifteenth and last round of a furious, spectacular fight in Madison Square Garden.

Renault scored a technical knockout when Johnson's second tossed a towel into the ring after the Iowa had gone down twice in the final round under the Canadian's battering attack. But Johnson, the helpless and bleeding from gashes about the head, was on his feet when the end came, staggering back by instinct to the fray he had lost only after one of the most courageous ring exhibitions ever witnessed in the historic Garden arena.

The finish came with but 31 seconds of the final round left and after Johnson, by sheer grit, had managed to weather a terrific bombardment for the last seven rounds. The young Iowa was on the verge of a knockout in both the ninth and tenth rounds, groggy under Renault's cool, merciless attack, but just when it seemed he was about to go down, he rallied spectacularly and actually fought Renault off his feet with determined, if futile, rushes, in the 11th, 12th and 13th round.

Renault, jarred but apparently unhurt by the fury of his rival's blows, kept a steady stream of blood flowing from deep gashes under John-

The Canadian unleashed a slashing drive in the 14th, sending Johnson about the ring under a fusillade of ripping hooks and uppercuts to the head and body. Somehow Johnson managed to weather the storm and in the 15th round he tried game-ly, but his punches bounded off Renault harmlessly and he soon was helpless under another withering attack. Only the instinct of a fighting heart kept Johnson on his feet under the bombardment.

B. H. S. SECONDS WIN, 26 TO 0

Take Wilton High Team Into Camp in Game Played There

Bismarck High School's second team played the Wilton high team at Wilton Friday afternoon and returned victor by a score of 26 to 0. Four touchdowns, one in the first, one in the third and two in the fourth accounted for the scores, with two goals kicked in the last quarter.

The locals played mostly straight football. The Wilton team was playing its third game, football being a new sport for the high school. Flinn, center, was the outstanding star of the Wilton team.

Coach Houser of the Bismarck team, who took the locals to Wilton, praised the fighting qualities of the Wilton team and declared there was the making of a good team there. Football is being taken up for the first time this year in a number of high schools north of here, and the local athletic authorities hope to see the game developed there.

The Bismarck high first team is playing Garrison high here today.

WOULD TAKE ZEV TO FRANCE.

(By the Associated Press.) Paris, Nov. 3.—An offer to match Epinard against Zev in a race to be run in France next April or May will be forwarded to Harry Sinclair by the French Jockey club should Zev defeat My Own and the other cracks at Latonia this afternoon.

EAGLES BEING SLAUGHTERED RUTHLESSLY

Observers See Extinction of Bird Which Is Symbol of Liberty

By Harry B. Hunt
NEA Service Writer
Washington, Nov. 3.—The American eagle, symbol of liberty, freedom, independence, is threatened with extinction.

If present inroads on these birds are permitted to continue, the only place where future generations may find them, according to the American Nature Association, will be on the great American dollar.

And—strange paradox—it will be the dollar that will have been responsible for the eagle's disappearance!

Wholesale Slaughter

For up in Alaska, which is the last foothold where American eagles are now to be found in any numbers on American soil, these birds of freedom are being slaughtered by the thousands for a territorial bounty of 50 cents each.

Under pressure by the salmon canning interests in Alaska, the territorial legislature passed a law offering half a dollar for each eagle killed. The law provides that the gunner can get his money by cutting both feet from the bird and producing them, together with an affidavit, before any Alaskan commissioner.

Since 1917, 36,000 eagle feet, cut from 18,000 birds, have been checked and accounted for on the bounty rec-

When Is a Flapper Not a Flapper?

Miriam Hopkins Finds That It's When She's In Love

Not even a flapper works at dapping all the time. At least so says Miriam Hopkins, who earns her living by flapping six nights and two afternoons a week in "Little Jessie James," the Broadway musical comedy of the moment.

"Aren't old folks silly?" mused Miriam, dimpling into the smile that's already famous up and down the great white way. "Can't they see that flapperism is only skin deep—that is, clothes and manners deep—and that when anything really happens to a girl, like falling in love, she becomes as old-fashioned as her most colonial ancestor?"

"I Love You," that a super-modern flapper sings in "Little Jessie James," is the magic that sooner or later will transform any flapper into a stammering, blushing sample of prehistoric girlhood.

"And yet the silly old folks keep hiring psycho-analysts to explain their unfamiliar young to them!"

ords. But, says the Nature Magazine, broadcasting the warning of the association—

Blame Packers

"It seems safe to say that instead of 18,000, probably 25,000 American eagles have been killed since the campaign began. Some were wounded and not caught. Many have fallen into inaccessible places where they could not be reached. A large number have been shot for sport by people who have not collected the bounties."

The depredations of the eagle on the Alaskan salmon industry, these nature enthusiasts insist, has been largely over-stated by the packers who sponsored the bounty law.

"At certain seasons of the year," they say, "fish in Alaska are abundant and the bald eagle undoubtedly lives largely on salmon. But it is a well-known fact that salmon die after spawning."

"The banks of streams are at times lined with the bodies of spewed-out fish. And it is these, in great part, that are carried away and eaten by these birds."

Ask Schools' Aid

An appeal to save the eagle, America's symbol of liberty, is to be broadcast in the hope of stirring public demand for the repeal of Alaska's bounty law. Bulletins will be sent school principals and glasses will be asked to unite in protest against the destruction of America's national bird.

"The eagle stands firm before every earthly power except the hand of man," the association points out. "He is our symbol of courage, our emblem of freedom. Are American

Apple Pomace Equal To Corn Fodder

Washington, Nov. 3.—Apple pomace, the residue of ground apples after the cider has been pressed out, can be profitably used as food for wintering cattle, the Department of Agriculture announces. Thousands of tons of this pomace is wasted each year. When moist pomace can be used fresh or ensiled it yields a cattle food comparable with corn silage. Its most profitable utilization depends upon its preservation by dehydration and producing it as a commercial food. Feeding trials with dairy cows proved dried-apple pomace to be equal pound for pound of dry matter to good corn silage. The material was fed wet and replaced the corn silage in a ration including grain and hay.

Keep Out of The Puddles

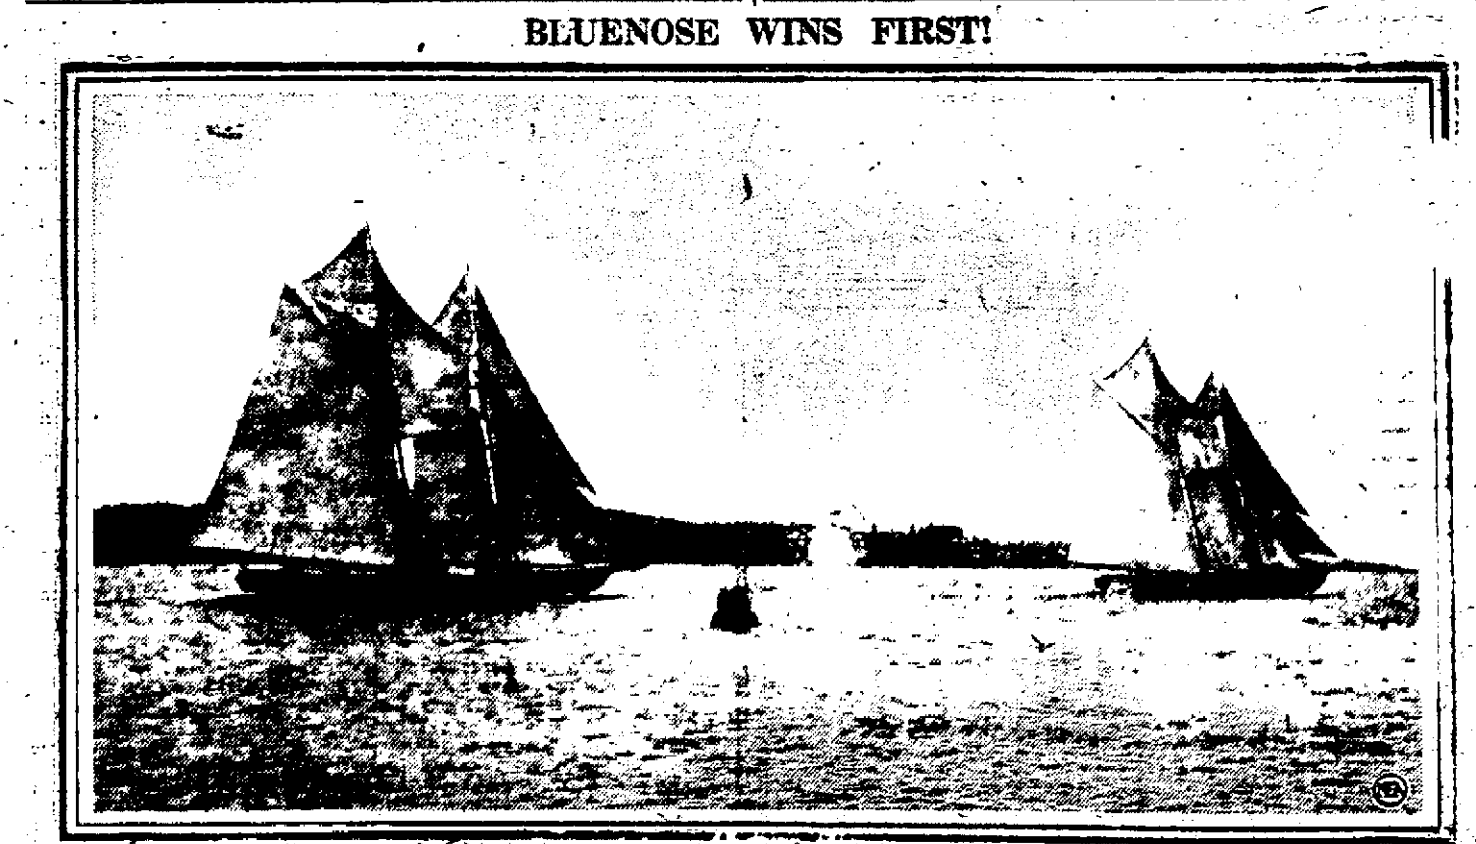

Courtly Sir Walter Raleigh—cynic, savant and first-class fighting man—desired a favor from good Queen Bess. A puddle in the queen's path made his opportunity. Across it he flung his costly cloak. Her majesty, smiling at his devotion, trod on, dry shod, and Sir Walter's unique self-advertising produced results.

Though most advertising is less spectacular today, it is far more serviceable. It smooths out the every-day pathways of each one of us.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once would have been worth a king's ransom are yours at little cost. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, manufacturer against manufacturer. This competition brings out the best there is in everything for your personal benefit.

You wouldn't know about many boons of modern life were it not for advertising. That is why you are not taking full advantage of the better things in life today if you consistently overlook the advertisements.

NUPTIAL KNOT UNITES SWEDEN AND ENGLAND

Lady Mountbatten, Relative of King George, Weds Swedish Crown Prince

BRIDE IS POPULAR

Bridegroom Is Handsome Athlete as Are All Members of Royal Family

Stockholm, Nov. 3.—The marriage in London today of Lady Louise Mountbatten, great-granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England and second cousin to King George, the present sovereign, to Gustaf Adolf, crown prince of Sweden, is received with deep interest here. The Swedes are delighted to meet the woman who some day will become their queen, and England is believed to be gratified at the new royal ties that bind Stockholm and London into still closer friendship.

Lady Louise is a sister of Lord Louis Mountbatten who last year married Miss Edwina Ashley, said to be one of the richest women in England. Lord Louis and his bride spent part of their honeymoon in the United States.

It was an eventful wooing which led to the wedding in the Chapel Royal of St. James Palace. Secretly had the news of Gustaf Adolf's engagement been announced when it was reported that certain authorities in Sweden opposed the marriage on the ground that Lady Louise was not of sufficiently high rank to marry the crown prince. Then, while the genealogical experts were settling this question in favor of the bride-to-be, came the startling news that the press of foreign lands was broadcasting the tale that Lady Louise had changed her mind about becoming a crown princess anyway, and was going to marry an obscure English painter of modest income. But as the summer passed by these rumors were gradually discredited by the fact that Lady Louise and the Swedish Crown Prince were often seen together in England and France.

Sprung From Austria

Lady Louise's father was Prince Louis of Battenberg, later known as the Marquis of Milford-Haven. The Battenberg family has sprung from Germany by way of Austria, where the title of prince was bestowed, and because of strained feeling in England during the war the name was anglicized to Mountbatten. Lady Louise, who is about 35 years old, is a typical aristocratic Englishwoman, gracious, generous, alert, fond of dancing and outdoor sport, and gifted with genuine charm. She will captivate Sweden as she did the officers and sailors of the Swedish squadron visiting British waters when she came aboard the flagship escorted by the crown prince.

The Swedish Crown Prince, whose full name is Oscar Fredrik Wilhelm Olaf Gustaf Adolf, has been married before, his first wife having died some three years ago. Crown Princess Margaret, daughter of the Duke of Connaught and princess of Great Britain and Ireland, had borne Gustaf Adolf five children, and her death was a great bereavement to the Swedish people.

Bridegroom Is 41

Gustaf Adolf is now 41 years of age, more than six feet tall, as are all the men of the Swedish royal family, and vigorous as an athlete. Indeed he is the possessor of the "athletic medal" awarded only for high proficiency in at least five different branches of sport in Sweden. This is perhaps not strange, nor is it strange that he is a military leader, and that he should have commanded one of his country's armies in the field maneuvers which ended only two weeks before the wedding. But it may surprise many to learn that the Swedish crown prince is also a serious archaeologist, with several expeditions to his credit. Last year he spent nearly two months personally directing the excavation of the buried Greek town of Asine, and unearthed many precious relics that shed light on the civilization of 5,000 years ago. He is, moreover, a collector of paintings, especially of the work of modern artists, such as Anders Zorn and Carl Larsson. Gustaf Adolf is very democratic and, consequently, popular with the masses in Sweden. His political aims and principles, like those of his father, are sound and constructive. The wedding in London will be attended by both King George of England and King Gustaf of Sweden. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Italy.

Open Oakland Has Closed Car Comforts

To meet the demand for closed car comfort in open car models, the Oakland Motor Car company has made special provision on the new 1923 models.

Because it has become less and less customary in recent years for owners to drive with the top down and because a permanent top permits the embodying of many features that make for more perfect weather-proof construction, Oakland has adopted this type of top on all open models.

The most noteworthy and obvious benefit obtained from the permanent top construction has been the remarkably tight fitting side curtains. The permanent top construction permits the forming of a ledge along the lower edge of the top and against this ledge the curtains are closed in such a way as to give a weather-tight fit without the use of fasteners of any sort.

The curtains are supported upon the doors on double rods that form this joint along the ledge of the top and hold the curtains from wrinkling or sagging. The curtains open and close with the doors without the buttoning or unbuttoning of any fasteners.

The fastening of the windshield side rails to the side of the body and the conforming of the top to the shape of the body, making it exactly the same width as the windshield at the front further serve to insure tight fitting curtains.

George H. Hannum, president of the Oakland Motor Car company expresses the belief that the closed car output will in a short time be larger than production on the open models and that when such time comes, the closed models will cost less than the open models due to the fact that the closed models will constitute the general production and the open models the occasional production.

CALORIES VALUE SUCCEEDING WEIGHT IN PURCHASING FOOD

Washington, Nov. 3.—To show what 100 calories looks like, the bureau of home economics of the Department of Agriculture has prepared an illustrated chart showing in a series of 20 pictures just how a portion of food containing 100 calories looks on a plate when compared with other familiar foods commonly appearing on the American table. The chart is intended to furnish aid in the economical and correct selection of food for the family. Housewives today are learning to choose, think of, and purchase their foods in terms of calories or food value, rather than by pounds or quarters, the bureau declares.

BANDITS ENTER POSTOFFICE AT ANOKA, MINN.

Get Stamps and Cash When They Rife Postoffice During Night

Anoka, Minn., Nov. 3.—Several robbers broke into the Anoka postoffice about 3 o'clock this morning, broke down several doors, wrecked the large safe and escaped with a large amount of stamps and cash. Just how much the thieves got, postoffice officials were unwilling to say but it was intimated the loot was "large."

At about the same time the robbery was taking place, Fred Bender, night patrolman, exchanged several shots with a stranger he saw lurking near the Congregational church across the street from the postoffice.

While searching for the man Bender saw a light in the postoffice building. He summoned the chief of police and they went to investigate, but when they reached the building they found the robbers, believed to be number three, had fled.

Other than stating that there was an attempted robbery and no loot was taken the police chief refused to divulge any information. Postoffice officials, however, admitted a large amount of stamps and some cash was taken.
